IN THE BEE TO-DAY.

WEATHER.

Cloudy, cooler weather, clearing this evening and much colder, fair to-morrow, is the official forecast for this vicinity. Observer Hagen says: "The continued high pressure with cold northwest winds in the northwest have created cloudiness throughout the country west of the 38th parallel, and at Des Moines, Cheyenne and Moonhead snow is falling. The lowest temperature this morning is at Miles City, Montana, where it is 8 below zero. We have a zero isotherm on the map this morning which covers an area of about 400 miles, principally in Montana. There is even indication of continued cold weather for the next two or three days. The temperature here will probably reach a minimum of 18 degrees above to-morrow, the highest here yesterday was 53 degrees. The lowest this morning 36 degrees."

Forecast for western New York and Ohio—Cooler; westerly winds and light rain of flurries of snow; generally fair to-night and Friday.

For Michigan and Wisconsin—Colder; cloudy weather and light rain of flurries of snow; fair Friday.

For Indiana and Illinois—Colder; generally fair weather, except possibly light flurries of snow during the day; fair Friday.

The association commended the unification and confederation of the Methodist educational societies in this country.

Addresses were made in English, German and Russian. The proceedings were peaceful. A force of police was present, but their services were not needed.

POPULATION OF OHIO.

Good Showing Made By Lucas County.

Findlay Takes the Prize for Growth—Interesting Figures for the People in the Buckeye State.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The census bureau has issued a bulletin giving officially and complete the population of Ohio by counties and minor civil divisions as shown by the enumeration last year.

The returns have been carefully revised and corrected, and the figures as they appear in this bulletin will stand for the precent decennial period.

The population of the state in June, 1890, was 3,672,316, a gain in ten years of 474,154, or 14.83 per cent. Of the 88 counties 28 show a decrease in population. In most of these the per cent. of loss is very small.

The largest per cent. of increase is to the credit of the modest little county of Paulding, which jumped from 13,000 to 25,000, gaining 92 per cent Cuyahoga is second in the per cent. of gain with 57.39. The population of Cuyahoga county in 1880 was 196,943, and in 1890, 309,970, a gain of 113,027. Hamilton county gained in the ten years but 61,190, being 19 per cent. The other counties having large towns show gains as follows: Franklin (Columbus) 46 per cent.; Clarke (Springfield), 25; Lucas (Toledo), 52; Mahoning (Youngstown), 30; Montgomery (Dayton), 28; Stark (Canton, Alliance and Massillon), 31; Summit (Akron), 23.

In rate of an Findlay leads the procession of large Ohio towns. It more than quadrupled its population, gaining over 300 per cent. roungstown gained 115 per cent., Canton 113, Lima 111, Ashtabula 87, Lorain 204, Alliance 64, Massillan 47.

Seventy cities and villages in the state have a population of 4,000 or more, with a total populatin of 1,387,572.

In 1880 the number of cities having this population was 46, with a total of 892,112. This shows an increase during the decade in this size of 24 in number, and 495,461.

The gain in urban population was 55 per cent., while that of the entire state was less than 15 per cent.

BLAZE IN ATLANTA.

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 12.—A disastrous fire destroyed four big stores in this city, and the total loss incurred is estimated at $125,000. The insurance is about one-third of that amount.

A SHAKY CABINET.

President Montt's Advisers Are Resigning.

Defeat of a Conservative Candidate the Cause.

England's Minister Kennedy at Valparaiso

Is Just About as Fit a Person as Pat Egan.

A Little Squabble Over Damage to His Coach in a Street Jam Causes Him to Show His Anger in the Affairs of State.

New York, Nov. 12.—The Herald's Valparaiso dispatches this morning say there is considerable coolness at present between the Chilian authorities and the British minister Kennedy. It dates from Nov. 1. All Saints' day, which was the occasion of a great demonstration in honor of those who lost their lives while in the service of the junta.

Among the great throng who visited the cemetery in Santiago was Minister Kennedy. His coach became blocked at the entrance to the cemetery, during which Mr. Kennedy's coachman became involved in a quarrel and finally was forced to seek flight to escape the fury of an angry mob.

Minister Kennedy's coach was somewhat damaged by colliding with other vehicles whose occupants insisted upon getting the right of way. This unpleasant incident put Mr. Kennedy in an indignant frame of mind, and ever since he has evinced a spirit of unfriendliness toward the authorities.

Owing to the defeat of the conservative candidate at Tuesday's session of the senate, Minister of the Interior Irrarazaval, and Minister of Agriculture Martinez have resigned. They state that their action is irrevocable. It is likewise reported the Minister of foreign Affairs, Matta, has also surrendered his portfolio. Other resignations from the present cabinet are likely to follow.

Senor Altanamero held a consultation with President-elect Montt yesterday with a view of forming a new ministry which will be composed of Liberals and Radicals.

The senate has confirmed the junta's request and promoted Jorge Montt to be rear admiral. The commanders of the various insurgent vessels during the late uprising have been advanced one grade. Colonels Canto and Holley, who led the assault upon Valparaiso, are now generals of division. Colonel Korner, the German officer who conducted all of the military movements of the congressionalists, has been made brigadier general.

PARNELL'S MEMORIAL.

Preparations for the Meeting Sunday.

Grover Cleveland Writes a Few Words in Favor of the Man Who Battled for Home Rule.

New York, Nov. 12.—The committee of arrangements for the proposed Parnell memorial meeting at the Academy of Music on November 15, met last night. Reports from sub-committees showed that the success of the affair was assured.

Among the letters received was the following from ex-President Cleveland:

"Dear Sir—I am a staunch believer in the doctrine of home rule, and have not failed to appreciate the labors in the cause of the man whose services you propose to commemorate.

"For what he accomplished and sought to accomplish for home rule, he deserved to be honored by all those who have a free and representative government, but his aim and purposes had their rise so completely in patriotism and his unselfish love for his countrymen was so conspicuous and disinterested that the reverence and devotion due to the memory of a patriot must always be associated with his name.

"The influence of his example surely ought not to be lost upon those who take up his work, to which he so thoroughly consecrated all his efforts and aspirations.

"Yours very truly,
"GROVER CLEVELAND."

WILL ARBITRATE.

Pittsburg, Nov. 12.—All of the employes at the American iron and steel works of Jones & Laughlin returned to work this morning except about 50 laborers whose places had been filled during the strike. The grievances of the strikers is being submitted to the national committee of the Amalgamated association. Work was resumed in all departments pending the decision of the national committee.

SILVER PURCHASE.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The treasury department to-day purchased 443,000 ounces of silver at .951 to .953 cents per ounce. The offers were 443,000 ounces.

TO MURDER EZETA.

A Plot Against His Life Discovered.

The Brother of the President of Salvador to be Killed by the Man He Had Saved From Death.

New York, Nov. 12.—A special cable dispatch to the Herald from San Salvador says a conspiracy to assassinate Gen. Antonio Ezeta, the minister of war, the navy and the interior, and brother of Gen. Carlos Ezeta, president of Salvador, has just been discovered in the city of Santa Anna.

The chief conspirator is Gen. Maximo Salguero. His crime is all the more unpardonable as he owes his life to the clemency of the man whom he has plotted to kill.

He was convicted by council of war after the late struggle and sentenced to be shot, but was pardoned by President Ezeta. Several arrests have already been made and others are likely to follow. The method to be employed was poison.

A revolutionary movement was discovered and destroyed by the government at Starosa, a town in Honduras. It is supposed to be connected with the plan to assassinate Gen. Ezeta.

AFTER BUTTERWORTH.

Catholics Take Exception to His Remarks.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—At a meeting of the directors of the Columbus club, at which every member was present, a committee was appointed to investigate and report upon a speech made by Solicitor General Butterworth of the world's fair, which it is said, has caused much comment among Catholics in Chicago and other cities. A demand upon the world's fair directory for Mr. Butterworth's retirement, it is intimated, may be the outcome.

The utterance of Mr. Butterworth was made at a banquet of the standard club, an organization of wealthy Hebrews, and was part of an address telling of the impressions he received on his recent trip to European countries as a world's fair envoy. Following an eloquent description of the wonders of Rome, his words were: "If I owned Italy I would have a great auction sale to which I would invite all America. I would sell 1,000 'madonnas' and 10,000 crucifixions, and with the money I would build school houses all over the land."

IN AN OIL FIRE.

Disastrous Blaze in a Pennsylvania Oil Town.

McDonald, Pa., Nov. 12.—McDonald had another very narrow escape from destruction by fire yesterday. The pumper at the Butler well was gauging his tanks when the gas ignited from his lantern.

With a flash the tank of oil was enveloped in flames; a moment later the derrick was on fire and the oil on the creek was burning fiercely as it floated along, communicating the flames with everything on the banks.

The large Butler barn was totally destroyed; a dwelling occupied by Wm. Shay was badly damaged; the derrick and tanks of the People's Gas company oil well were burned, together with the large double house and contents owned by Mrs. Bailey. The fire was controlled by constructing numerous dams across the creek. The known losses aggregate $25,000, partly insured. The Butler well is yet burning and the loss cannot be accurately estimated at present.

TWO COMMISSIONERS.

New York, Nov. 12.—A Mail and Express Washington special says that Judge Dill, of Iowa, and ex-Assistant Secretary of State Porter, of Tennessee, are probably to be selected as the two new interstate commerce commissioners.

CUT HIS THROAT.

Philadelphia, Nov. 12.—John C. Scott, a young medical student from Galveston, Tex., committed suicide in the German hospital yesterday morning by cutting his throat with a broken piece of gass, while in a fit of temporary insanity.

CENSURE MRS. PARNELL.

Dublin, Nov. 12.—The National Press bitterly condemns Mrs. Parnell for ordering the Paris fund to remain locked up, and claims that she has conspired with Mr. Harrison to keep the money from the evicted tenants.

ADJUTANT GENERAL HOWE.

His Appointment Would Give Good Satisfaction.

The Clever Colonel of the Second Regiment is Strongly Endorsed for the Position.

Kenton, O., Nov. 12.—Hardin county republicans are feeling quite proud of the favor with which their candidate for adjutant general, Col. James C. Howe, is being received.

Col. Howe is chairman of the county central committee, and as such was the most important factor in so thoroughly organizing the county work as to turn the majority from two to 612.

He is colonel of the Second regiment, and the positions he has filled bespeak his popularity in military circles.

When only a captain in 1886 the Ohio troops at Philadelphia named their camp after him, in 1888 at the national encampment at Washington he had command of the Ohio troops, and also at the centennial celebration of Washington's inauguration at New York he held the same honor.

He has just completed his second term as clerk of the courts of Hardin county, and should Major McKinley decide to appoint him as adjutant general of the state no more deserving honor could be conferred, and the hard work done in Hardin county could not be more deservingly rewarded.

OHIO POSTMASTERS.

A Batch of Fourth-class Offices Filled With Harrison Men.

Washington, Nov. 12.—(Special)—Ohio fourth-class postmasters appointed: Brickner, Putnam county, C. Weis, vice H. Rommanie, resigned; Beelaville, Gallia county, G. U. Leonard, vice J. H. Irwin, resigned; Greenstown, Stark county, O. T. Shauafelt, vice L. Ruber, removed; Justus, Stark county, G. W. Wilhelm, vice J. Buxser, removed; Kelloggsville, Ashtabula county, J. H. Brown, vice W. L. Wood, resigned; Osnaburg, Stark county, A. H. Montgomery, vice J. B. Snyder, resigned; Pittsfield, Lorain county, George Hines, vice C. S. Sheldon, resigned; Stillwater, Tuscarawas county, P. S. Jones, vice C. C. Houck, resigned; Way, Monroe county, W. A. Pryor, vice A. J. Mackey, removed.

CRIME ON THEIR HANDS.

Republicans Refuse to Investigate Fraud.

Bayer and McCamant Get Off Without Having Their Records for Corruption Officially Acted Upon.

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 12.—A vote was taken on Senator Gobin's resolution that the senate is without jurisdiction in the cases of Auditor General McCamant and State Treasurer Boyer, and it was agreed to by a strict party vote. Yeas, 28; nays, 19.

A resolution was offered and adopted by a party vote of 28 yeas to 19 nays, that when the senate adjourn it adjourn sine die. A recess was taken at 1:40 until 3 o'clock.

Upon reassembling a number of appointments made by the governor since the adjournment of the legislature were confirmed.

A committee waited upon the governor who informed them that he had nothing further to communicate to the senate. The extraordinary session then at 4:30 o'clock adjourned sine die.

OHIO FARMERS' ALLIANCE.

Election of Officers—A New President for the Ensuing Year.

Columbus, Nov. 12.—The main feature of the session of the State Farmers' Alliance and Industrial union was the election of officers for the ensuing year, which resulted as follows: President, Alva Agee, Gallia county; vice president, H. Doomis, Scioto; secretary and treasurer, H. E. Parker, Brown; chaplain, Rev. W. J. Warner, Athens; lecturer, A. D. Foster, Adams; steward, Eugene A. Bing, Gallia; doorkeeper, F. M. Lryton, Licking; assistant doorkeeper, L. A. Fley, Brown; executive committee, L. L. Pegg, Franklin; A. B. Kistler, Fairfield; and D. M. Cooper, Athens. Mr. Agee declined to serve longer as president on the ground that he could not do so without seriously interfering with his private business interests, and Mr. J. K. Murphey, of Scioto county, was chosen to the office in his stead.

HAS STRUCK BELGIUM.

A Cyclone Has Done Great Damage in the Land.

Brussels, Nov. 12.—A cyclone swept over Belgium yesterday. The wind blew from the southeast of France in the direction of England at a terrible speed. Great damage has been done. Many trees were uprooted in the parks of this city.

In the Bois de la Cambre several newspaper stalls collapsed. The roofs of the Cercle Artestique et Litteraire and of the Hotel Continental were blown off. Several street accidents occurred and four persons were severely injured.

Reports from various points show that the gale has done considerable damage in the provinces.

IOWA OFFICIAL.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 12.—The county boards of supervisors have at last finished tion. Returns received by the register the canvass of the vote cast at last elec- from all counties make the total vote cast for governor 420,214. This is the largest vote cast in the state. The voting in the presidential election of 1888 was 404,000. Of this Boies (dem.) received 207,575, Wheeler (rep.) 190,759, Westfall (alliance) 11,018, Gilson (pro.) 962. Boies' plurality 7,816, lacking 5,064 of being a majority.

ELOPED WITH A PUPIL.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Nov. 12.—E. D. Kowski, organist of the Catholic church of Plains, eloped yesterday with a pretty 15-year-old girl, one of his most promising pupils. De Kowski, who is on the shady side of 50, leaves a wife behind him.

JUMPED THE TRACK.

A Bad Smash-Up on the Erie Railway.

One Man Killed and a Number of Trainmen and Passengers Badly Injured.

Canisteo, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Erie vestibule passenger train No. 8, which is due here at 11:23 a. m., but did not pass until 12:43 p. m., jumped the track at Adrian, four miles east of here, wrecking the engine, the smoker, and baggage car combined, the mail car, a dining car, and three Pullman cars.

The smoker was burned and others badly smashed up, only two remaining cars of the train escaping without injury.

The engineer, James Stickney, of Hornelsville, was killed, and Fireman Charles Beard, also of Hornellsville, was badly scalded by escaping steam, but will doubtedless recover. C. E. Mecrean, of Union, mail clerk, was injured badly about the head, but the other three clerks in the mail car had a miraculous escape.

Baggagemaster B. W. Hedley was injured about the head and hands, and the news agent, J. W. Cottrell, of Elmira, was bruised about the legs and breast, the remainder of the trainmen getting only a bad shaking up.

The following passengers were injured: Mrs. N. E. Bennett, Canasara, about the head and limbs; I. S. Sherman, Chicago, head bruised; Elizabeth Steidel, of New York, dangerously bruised about head and body; Spencer Bostrick, Owego, N. Y., bruised about head; G. H. Brown, residence unknown, head bruised and knee jammed; unknown man, cut in face and bruised about the head.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Slater, Mo., Nov. 12.—A fire started in the second story of the Central hotel this morning. Before the flames could be controlled they had destroyed a block of business houses on either side of the hotel. Loss $75,000; partially insured. The cause of the fire is unknown.

OHIO'S POPULATION.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The census office to-day issued a bulletin giving the population of Ohio by minor civil divisions. The population of the state in 1890 was 3,672,316, against 3,198,062 in 1880. Of the 88 counties in the state 28 show decreases, most of them very slight

THE SLEEP OF DEATH.

Strange Cases Reported From Michigan.

Wiard Dies After Slumbering Since May First—Miss May White's Condition No Better.

Detroit, Nov. 12.—George A. Wiard of Montague, who went to sleep May 1 and did not awaken thereafter, has died. His protracted slumber followed a very obstinate attack of grip. About the first of August he moved slightly and uttered a few words, but he he did not regain consciousness. Befor this singular affliction Wiard was a powerful young man, weighing 170 pounds. At his death he weighed 50 pounds.

Miss May White of Stockbridge has been sleeping five months. Her physicians can arouse her each day, but after an hour or more of conversation she sinks into a profound slumber. Her weight has been reduced from 135 pounds to 70. In her waking moments she speaks hopefully of recovery, but it is believed she cannot long survive.

THE EQUITABLE LIFE.

An Interesting Case Filed in the Cleveland Courts.

Mrs. Ellen Lowe Wants the Affairs of the Company Looked Into—Serious Charges Made.

Cleveland, Nov. 12.—Mrs. Ellen Lowe began an action in the common pleas court to-day against the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States.

She sets forth that on January 29, 1872, in consideration of the payment of $115.57, and of the payment of the annual premiums of $360.50, the society agreed to assure the life of Robert D. Lowe for $20,000.

She says the policy was issued under the conditions of the Tontine saving fund policies. She charges that for some years after making the contract with her, the society kept a separate account for Tontine policies, but afterwards stopped that method of accounting and put all of the money into the general account, thus lessening the value of her policy by at least $5,000.

She further charges that the society has taken a large portion of the income derived from the Tontine system and put it into the surplus fund, thus depriving her of at least $3,000.

She also charges that the capital stock of the society is only $100,000, and that for many years it has been paying its president $60,000 each per annum, and its treasurer, secretary, actuary, controller and auditor each $50,000 per annum.

This makes a total of $520,000, or more than five times the amount of the capital stock. She asks that a full accounting be made concerning not only her own policy, but all those in the Tontine class.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Memorial Services Yesterday--They Wrote Him Then,

As One Who Loved His Fellow Men.

The Business of the Convention Moving Rapidly and Smoothly Along—At Pythian Castle—At the Manual Training School.

The real work for which the general assembly of the Knights of Labor has been gathered in Toledo now engages the time of the convention during seven hours each day, while if the time which committees are putting in at boiling down work before presenting it to the general body is counted, it would have to be acknowledged that the eight-hour law is not being enforced in committee rooms. Some of the committees are working far into the morning hours. It is still too early to say when the convention will adjourn, but old and experienced delegates say it will not be before the middle of next week.

The report of the committee on law has been under consideration for a number of hours. While this report is upon changes in the constitution of the order, it also largely determines the line of future work. Each proposition submitted to the committee is carefully weighed and considered, and when it has been reported to the convention the deliberations there are not hurried.

Of the action so far taken upon the report of this committee, the public will be most interested in the report upon article XI. of the knights' platform. This is the demand for

"The prohibition, by law, of the employment of children under 15 years of age."

Upon an amendment submitted by the state assembly of Kentucky, recommended and further amended by the committee, this section was added, so that it now makes further demand that compulsory education for children under 15 years shall be required by law, and that the state shall furnish free text books.

Memorial Services.

Memorial services were held yesterday afternoon upon the death of the late general worthy foreman of the order, Richard Griffith, who died in Chicago last May, and the sketch of whose life and services for the order appeared in yesterday's Bee.

The eulogies were delivered by Richard Trevellick, of Michigan, Thos. B. McGuire, of New York, Jas. A. Wright and T. V. Powderly, of Pennsylvania, Chas. H. Litchman, of Massachusetts, A. W. Wright, of Canada, and Hugh Cavanaugh, of Ohio.

Mr. Powderly dwelt specially upon the service Mr. Griffith had rendered him as his trusty and trusted confidential adviser in the affairs of the order. Mr. Litchman and Mr. Cavanaugh referred to their affiliation with Mr. Griffith, not only in the Knights of Labor, but as Knights of St. Crispin, and Mr. Cavanaugh also asked that the Order would not forget the aged and bereaved widow of one who had done so much for it. All paid high tribute to the worth of their departed brother and subscribed to Mr. Wright's eulogy, that Mr. Griffith could have said, with Abou, Ben Adhem, "Write me then as one who loved my fellow-men."

Further Committees Appointed.

On State of the Order—J. A. Hoffman, D. A. 200; J. A. B. Espey, D. A. 230; W. H. McCarthy, D. A. 47; Robert McConnell, state assembly of Illinois; E. J. Lindholm, D. A. 24.

On Legislation—W. J. Babcock, D. A. 63; Jas. A. Wright, N. T. A. 231; Amedee Blondin, D. A. 19; P. H. Golden, D. A. 78; Wm. M. Madden, D. A. 58.

Visit to the Manual Training School.

As soon as possible after 11 o'clock the delegates who were disengaged, to the number of about sixty, went to the High School building, to visit the classes in manual training, escorted by Mrs. A. P. Stevens and W. H. Dennis.

They were met and welcomed by Trustees Scott and Macomber and the superintendent of the schools, and conducted through all the rooms in which these various classes are taught and in most of which the pupils were still at work. After this the visitors gathered in the machine room, and were given by Macomber the details of the system, and how it is working here. Very many questions were asked by different delegates and answered by the trustees and teachers, and the visitors were cordially invited to repeat the visit and come individually and further investigate the system and watch the classes at work.

The delegates were one and all highly delighted with their reception, and the opinion was generally expressed that Toledo had the best institution of the kind in the country.

Among the delegates who expressed to the trustees their approval of the system and their satisfaction with its details as shown in our training school were: Messrs. Sovereign of Iowa, Watchorn of Pennsylvania, Greene of Arkansas, Trivellick of Michigan, Murray of New York, McCrimmon of Washington state, Litchman of Massachusetts, Cavanaugh of Cincinnati.

The first two of these gentlemen, commissioners of labor in the states they represent here, requested further interview with the trustees, in order that they may embody in their forthcoming report to the legislatures recommendations based on what is being done here.

At the Public Library.

From the manual training school a large number of the delegates went to our beautiful library building, and having admired its outside architecture were taken within to see the greater treasure on the library shelves. In the absence of Librarian Jermaine, the visitors were received by Miss Kent, and shown through the building, and particularly the shelves devoted to books upon the great economic and industrial questions.

Those of our citizens who are interested in such literature, and these are many, know that in this department of our library we have much to be proud of, and for which to thank the library trustees and the librarian. The visitors were impressed with the same conviction, and expressed their deep satisfaction on being told that this was a people's library, its use absolutely free to nevery man, woman and child of reading years.

Said a delegate from New York City: "This is 'the' library of the United States. Considering that it is free to all New York City has nothing to compare with it."

Notes.

The dance at Pythian castle last night was a pronounced success.

The Ohio delegates meet this evening upon adjournment of the convention.

The representatives of the Ohio W. C. T. U. were received at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The trustees of the Manual Training school, and the trustees of the Toledo free library, invite all delegates to visit either institution at their convenience.

From 8 to 10 to-night and to-morrow night, all knights who will avail themthemselves of the privilege can come to Walbridge hall, to be instructed in "the 49 school." After Friday night every one, whether a member or not, will be welcome.

THE TOLEDO CLUB'S

Magnificent Building Opened With Great Eclat.

Fifteen Hundred Guests Entertained.

The Reception Tendered Last Night—Rich Costumes and Beautiful Flowers—What Was To Be Seen—The Members of the Organization.

The handsome new Toledo Club building received its formal opening last evening with a grand reception to members and friends. The wealth and beauty and the fashion of Toledo were there, and the reception proved to be by far the finest social affair ever given in the city, and it will be some time before it is eclipsed.

The new club building has been an object of admiration for Toledo people ever since it was completed, and last evening the friends of the club members were given an opportunity to see the interior of this model club home, and they saw it at its best. About 1,000 invitations had been issued and the guests of the evening numbered over 1,500 people. The weather, though threatening, did not interfere, and when once inside of the club building, nothing could be thought of the occasional showers outside.

The arrangements and appointments for the reception were complete and perfect, being carried out in a manner that reflected great credit on those in charge.

The Huron street entrance was used for receiving the guests. Here a canopy was placed across the sidewalk from the door to the curb and a carpet was stretched under it. Tht guests were well looked after, before entering the parlor, by a large corps of colored servants. The large billiard room on the ground floor was utilized as a gentleman's cloak room, and the ladies used the ladies' parlors on the second floor.

The Club house was a blaze of light, and the elegant appointments, draperies and art works were set off by beautiful floral decorations composed almost entirely of chrysanthemums. The flowers were furnished and arranged by George E. Heinl. There was a profusion of the dainty blossoms everywhere, and the elegant designs and tasty arrangement were a subject of much admiration. Some 3,000 blossoms were used, and these included about 85 varieties of every size and color. A large number of palms and potted plants were also used in the decorations.

The special reception committee, composed of Messrs. W. A. Gosline, S. C. Reynolds, E. D. Potter, jr., I. P. Pugsley, C. F. Curtis, F. B. Swayne, A. W. Scott, George E. Pomeroy and James Secor, left nothing undone that could add to the comfort or pleasure of the guests, and they were ably seconded by the officers and other members of the club. President John B. Kttcham, 2d, and Secretary W. L. Hoyt were especially attentive, and seemed to be everywhere.

Wolff's orchestra occupied the office on the archways leading to the parlors, hung with elegant draperies, and the back of the hall is occupied with the main stair case, which is a magnificent affair of carved oak and richly carpeted. On the first landing is a large alcove backed by a stained and plate glass window, and in this delightful nook was the crown piece of the floral decorations, consisting of a group of plums and potted plants arranged with much taste and intermingled with which were innumerable chrysanthemums. The whole stair case was decorated with blossoms, while the rail, newel posts and pillars were twined with smilax. The hall is finished in polished oak, which also composes the interior woodwork of the whole building.

The parlors on the first floor consist of a smoking room, facing on Madison street, a lounging room, a reading room and a library. These rooms are furnished elaborately with costly furniture and draperies, and the floor is covered with a heavy wine colored plush carpet, while the walls are hung with fine pictures.

The large "lounging room" contains a fireplace and mantle and, besides other flowers tastely arranged, there rested on the table a center piece consisting of a larg evase made entirely of chrysanthemums and filled with a bunch of the same blossoms of a dozen varieties.

In the rear of these rooms are located cafe and lavatories, all appointments being complete and of the most modern make.

On the second floor is the directors' room, directly over the office, the main dining room, and the ladies' department two private dining rooms, with a serving room, between these and the main room. On this floor is also the gentleman's ordinary, besides more lavatories.

Secretary Will Hoyt.

The great hall on this floor at the head of the staircase, is also a splendid room and splendidly furnished.

The main dining room, which is also used as a ball room, is 60x30 feet in size, lighted by a dozen windows and richly furnished and carpeted. An immense sideboard occupies one end of the room and on one side is a large fire-place and mantel. This room contained the most beautiful floral display of all. The sideboard was almost hidden with blossoms. On the tables were bunches of roses and chrysanthemums, bunches of the same mingled with carnations on the mantel, and in the big bay window was another beautiful bank of palms and flowers.

On the third floor are four card rooms and four sleeping rooms, all furnished in keeping with the other parts of the establishment, and in the rear is located the kitchen, refrigerators, pantries and ice boxes, all the appointments being of the most improved style and make, nothing being wanting.

Throughout the building the arrangement of the rooms and halls is of such a nature that on an occasion like last night all can be thrown open to the best advantage, and make ample accommodation for almost any number of guests.

The building is heated throughout with the Smead apparatus, and is lighted with both gas and electricity, the candelabra being composed of some of the finest work of this kind in the city.

All this was seen by the great concourse of guests last evning, and nothing but words of admiration and praise were heard. All were satisfied that the Toledo Club has a most luxurious and comfortable home, and one that is a credit to the city whose name it bears.

The arrangements for the reception and the control of affairs were under the direct supervision of Mr. J. M. Hickey, the club manager, and to his able care much of the success of the evening was due.

The Toledo club may well feel proud of their opening, for it marks an era in the social history of the city and will long be remembered.

The officers of the club are: John B. Ketcham, 2d, president; C. L. Reynolds, vice president; W. L. Hoyt, secretary; D. V. R. Manley, treasurer.

At present the only standing committee of the club is the house committee, composed of Messrs. W. T. Carrington, E. L. Southworth and Oliver Rogers.

The membership of the club is as follows:

H. W. Ashley, C. F. Adams, Geo. A. Braun, Webb Brainard, J. H. Bowman, Wm. H. Boos, J. J. Barber, R. A. Bartley, Herbert Baker, E. W. Baumgardner, R. H. Baker, J. C. Bonner, Samuel R. Backus, Geo. W. RUMORS OF WAR.

Conflicting Reports Come From Brazil.

Troops Sent to Rio Grande do Sul by Fonseca

To Force the Rebels Into Submission.

Rio Janeiro in Blissful Ignorance of the Truth.

Uruguay Has Become Alarmed at the State of Affairs and is Massing Her Whole Troops Along the Brazilian Border to be Ready for Action.

New York, Nov. 12—The Herald's Valparaiso dispatches this morning state that it was reported there last night that a number of the members of the Brazilian congress which Dictator Fonseca recently dissolved, have sought an asylum in the different foreign legations in Rio Janerio.

Uruguay has become alarmed at the state of affairs in Brazil and has massed troops along the frontier of that country.

The revolt in Rio Grande do Sul began on the night of November 9. It spread rapidly, and at last accounts the greater part of the state was occupied by the rebels.

Generals Fernandez and Santa Ana are said to be at the head of the revolutionists and their ranks are reported to be receiving constant accessions. The garrison at Yuguaron, it is said, has joined the insurgents. Two other garrisons have also joined the rebels.

The dictator's governor deemed the revolt so serious that he asked the general government for reinforcements. In compliance with this request Fonseca at once sent four gunboats, three monitors and two transports, loaded with troops, to the scene of the uprising.

The troops will be landed at the three ports at the mouth of the Bay of Patos in Rio Grande do Sul. It is believed that Fonseca's troops will act upon the defensive. The probabilities are that the authorities will meet with a very lively time in Rio Grande do Sul.

The residents of Rio Janeiro seem to be kept in perfect ignorance of these stirring events. They believe that everything is peaceful in the republic, and that the discontent against Fonseca is not worth noticing.

In support of this belief is the following extract from a Rio Janeiro cable:

"Up to the present there has been nothing, so far as can be learned here, to seriously threaten the stability of Fonseca's dictatorship. If there is any revolt in Pernambuco, Bahia, or Para, reliable information of it has not reached the city.

"There are said to be a number of disaffected republicans and a number of imperialists who would like to see a monarchy re-established, but they have not, so far as known here, openly pronounced against the government.

"The disturbances in Rio Grande do Sul appear to be of a local character and it is believed here that the governor of the state can fully cope with it without assistance. At any rate, he has not as yet seen fit to call upon the general government for assistance.

"Rio is quiet and business is conducted as before the dissolution of congress. Fonseca still maintains that he has no intention of continuing the dictatorship beyond such time as is necessary to re-establish perfect peace all over Brazil. Preparations are going on for the election of new representativs to congress."

The chiefs of the revolution on the other hand are said to be Visconde Pelotas, Baron Jijik and Generals Astropillo and Fravares. Their object seems to be to form a national party in opposition to the dictator. This party is to be made up of both liberals and conservatives. There are now two political parties in Brazil. One favors the dictator and the other is opposed to his government.

The Brazilian minister to Chili, Senhor Cavalcanti, has tendered his regisnation. Under date of November 4 he received a notification that the dictatorship had been established, and reasons were given for the same.

A private telegram received here is to the effect that Rio Grande do Sul is now entirely in the hands of the seceders from the dictatorship of General da Fonseca. The dispatch also says that the military have given their support to the seceders.

HER DECKS ALL A-WASH.

The City of Glasgow in a Heavy Storm.

Out of Fuel and At the Mercy of the Waves—Accidents in Buffalo—The John Craig Disabled.

Port Huron, Nov. 12—The steamship City of Glasgow arrived here last evening, after having used all her iron ore bumpers and the cook's fuel.

Capt. Furry reports that the Glasgow ran out of coal on Saginaw Bay. After leaving Detour the wind freshened into a gale from the south with a large sea.

At 3 o'clock yesterday morning a heavy sea swept over her and carried everything that was movable overboard. The large wooden cover of the hoist was carried aft by the sea with such force that it jammed in the front of the boiler house, the sea filling the fire hold with water up as far as the grate.

HEAVY WEATHER.

Buffalo, Nov. 12.—The wind suddenly changed from the southeast to the southwest Tuesday night, causing a great flow of water into the harbor, and several minor mishaps resulted from parting lines. The schooner Doud's bulwarks forward were considerably damaged. The scow Niagara drifted against the Arthur, which lost her jibboom. The Arthur struck the Kate Kelley's stern, damaging it considerably. The steamer St. Lawrence hit a canal boat loaded with barley, shoving her deck out of place. The cargo was not damaged, but it will cost $500 to repair the boat. The tug Kelderhouse got caught between the Saranac and the dock, and lost her cabin and stack. The Saranac swung against the Neshoto, breaking stanchions and the rail of the latter.

The wind reached forty-seven miles velocity. The Gratwick, Edward Smith and consort Martin, light, ran back.

The Marion was short 1,843 bushels on barley from Milwaukee, La Salle, 300 bushels on wheat from Duluth.

The Wilson Transit company has libeled the wheat cargoes of the Sitka and Wadena, from Toledo, for demurrage. They unloaded at the City elevator.

John Craig in Distress.

Sault Ste Marie, Nov. 12.—The steamer Nyanza arrived down and reported the steamer John Craig disabled with a broken rudder 15 miles above Whitefish Point. After two hours' effort to pick her up the Nyanza was forced to leave. The steamer Albert succeeded in getting a line from the disabled craft, but owing to her being in the trough of a heavy sea it parted before she could be rounded to. The tugs Andrew Smith and Merrick have gone to her assistance.

THE PRICE HILL PROPERTY.

Appraisers Appointed for the Celebrated Barr Tract.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 12.—(Special)—James M. Gleen, Theophilus Wilson and General Cowen have been appointed by Judge Sage as appraisers of the Barr tract, on Price Hill. General Cowen is also appointed special master. It will be the duty of the appraisers to place a fair value on both the real estate and the improvements. There are between three and four hundred parcels to appraise.

Counsel for the claimants deny that a right of appeal exists, except as to such of the defendants in possession who have interests at stake which are worth more than $2,000. If the court adopts this view, it will shut out a large number of the defendants from the appeal. It is maintained, however, by their counsel, that the right of appeal to every one of the defendants in possession is undoubted.

Several Toledo people are interested in the case, among them Mrs. W. S. Thurston.

NEW CONSULS.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The president has recognized Salvador F. Maillefert, as consul of the United States of Mexico for Eagle Pass, Texas, and its dependencies; Carlos Fernandez Pasalagua, consul of the United States of Mexico for Deming, N. M., and its dependencies; Rafael Gacosta, consul of the United States of Mexico for Philadelphia, and its dependencies; Frederic Ancrum, vice consul of Spain at Wilmington, N. C., and Ernesto Schernikow, vice consul of Salvador at New York.

ASYLUM FOR EPILIPTICS.

The Corner Stone Laid At Gallipolis.

The Fight for Location and Other Matters of Interest in Connection With the Building.

Gallipolis, O., Nov. 12.—(Special)—The corner stone of the new state asylum for epileptics and epileptic insane was laid to-day, with appropriate ceremonies. Gen. Roeliff Brinkerhoff, of Mansfield, president of the state board of charities, delivered the address. The general is a pioneer in this specialty of benevolence, having devoted many years to its study, with the facilities furnished by his official position.

The records of the office show that Ohio's researches on the subject have been more thorough and exhaustive than those of any of her sister states. Being the only institution of the kind in the western hemisphere, it is also the only one on the planet entirely supported by public revenue.

Readers will remember the fight of last winter on location of buildings and the continuance of the battle in the legislature, where the special appropriation was tacked onto the general appropriation bill.

The plum fell into the lap of Gallipolis, and the erection of two of the many cottages designed to house the colony is well under way. They are to be of stone found on the grounds, which are a gift to the state by the city. The site is a beautiful one.

An elevated plateau of porous soil naturally drained, overlooks the meanderings of the beautiful Ohio river. The health of the locality, as shown by the health officer's records, is unsurpassed in the state, while the winter is softened by its proximity to the Mason and Dixon line. Last year the city celebrated its one hundredth birthday.

The city is full of distinguished strangers, the guests of the board of trade, a very active body of business men, a committee from which fought this great benevolence into project and secured its location.

JOSEPH BEHIND THE BARS.

The Greatest Liar on Earth Is In Jail.

He Is Charged With Having Robbed a Friend—The Evidence Against Him Is Very Strong.

Pittsburg, Nov. 12.—Joseph Mulhattan, well known the country over as "Orange Blossom," the writer of some of the most startling and marvellously untrue stories ever published, is behind the bars at central police station, this city, charged with larceny. Patrick O'Toole, a young railroad man who met Mulhattan for the first time last night, makes the charge. O'Toole and Mulhattan met in a Grant street saloon and soon became the best of friends. They remained together until too late for O'Toole to catch his train. O'Toole readily consented to share his room and bed. This morning when O'Toole awoke Mulhattan was missing, also a roll of money from his pockets.

O'Toole complained to the police and Mulhattan was soon under arrest, but denies taking any money from his friend. The exact amount missing was found, however, in Mulhattan's possession.

Before being locked up Mulhattan appealed to the inspector to be released and said: "I am the only Orange Blossom, the greatest liar in the world."

"I do not think your reputation will aid you much now," replied the officer, as he turned the keys on him.

GLASS MAKERS.

Business Session in Tiffin—A Pastor's Return from Europe.

Tiffin, O., Nov. 12—The Flint and Glass Manufacturers' association held its regular meeting in the parlors of the Shawhan house in this city yesterday and discussed matters of interest to the trade. Daniel C. Ripley and J. B. Farwell, Pittsburg; Chas. J. Bocken, Marion, Ind.; A. J. Smith, J. A. Graham and B. M. Hildreth, Fostoria, and R. J. and George Beaty, of this city, were among the manufacturers in attendance.

Rev. J. M. Puetz returned yesterday from an extended visit to Europe and was tendered a serenade last evening by the German Catholic societies of this city, accompanied by the Sixth Regiment band and citizens. He received his visitors most cordially and thanked them for the kind mark of esteem shown him. He also recounted the experiences of his trip, which was one of the most pleasant character.

ANOTHER BURCHELL CASE.

An Englishman Disappears in California.

Thomas Hendry Starts Out on a Prospecting Tour and Never Returns From the Mountains.

San Francisco, Nov. 12.—What looks like a Burchell case has just come to light here.

Three months ago Thomas Hendry, a former manager of the Hudson Bay company at Victoria, left his wife here and went to Los Angeles seeking investment for $5,000 which he carried with him in bills.

He wrote several times detailing places he had visited, and then the letters suddenly stopped.

From that time his wife has been unable to secure a single clue to his fate. She sought the aid of the police and made a thorough search, but without result.

Being a proud Englishwoman, with wealthy connections in Winnipeg, she carefully concealed the fact of her husband's disappearance. She believes he has been foully dealt with or has wandered while temporarily insane.

The Los Angeles police believe he has been decoyed to some lonely canyon and murdered for his money. He has wealthy relatives in Canada who, when they learn of his disappearance, will probably push the search for him.

MADE A BIG HAUL.

A St. Paul Train Held Up in a Snow Storm,

And a Hundred Thousand Dollars Stolen.

A Dynamite Bomb Opened Up the Car

And the Bold Robbers Then Had Easy Sailing.

A Train Load of Trained Detectives Have Taken the Trail and Expect to Run Down the Desperadoes in the Thick Woods of Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 12.—While the through passenger train from Chicago on the St. Paul road was rolling over the prairie near Western Union Junction at about 2 o'clock this morning a band of masked men sprang out of the bushes and reinforced two of their colleagues who had secreted themselves on the train several miles below.

With their revolvers the two men commanded engineer and fireman to check the speed of the train in order to permit the rest of the band to get aboard. When the gang had possession of the engine the work of robbing the train began. The express car was first attacked, and although the train was running at good speed three of the robbers climbed over the tender and entered the car while their confederates held revolvers at the heads of the engineer and fireman.

It is reported that the express messenger made a desperate resistance and that several shots were fired. The express car contained a large amount of money and all this, it is claimed, was taken in the fierce fight. The safe, it is said, was broken open after the messenger had refused to deliver the keys.

Western Union Junction is a small village at the junction of the main line of the St. Paul road and the spur of the same road which runs to Racine.

It is a lonely place at night and must have been especially so last night for a snow storm had been raging in the southern part of the state since midnight.

Trains from the junction bring meagre details of the robbery which are unsatisfactory, the company having taken charge of the wires in an effort to bring all the available police force to the place as quickly as possible.

At 2:25 a special train filled with officers left the St. Paul depot here for the scene of the robbery. They are heavily armed and will be met at the junction by horses supplied by the villagers.

These will be used in chasing the bandits, for it is known that they have struck out north. There is a great forest near the junction and it may be that being hard pressed the robbers may seek this as a hiding place.

Still later advices from Western Union Junction are to the effect that when the train was stopped the robbers immediately threw a dynamite bomb at the door, wrecking the whole end of the car. They then removed the safes from the car and opened them. They secured $5,000 in money, which was in packages outside the safes.

The safes themselves were sealed and the messengers do not know the amount in them, but it was probably in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The local employes of the American Express company report that the amount lost is very large. Passengers were not molested.

The train was No. 3, and left Chicago at 11 o'clock. It consisted of three coaches, two sleepers, one parlor, one baggage, one mail and one express car. It arrived at Western Union Junction at 12:45, where two passengers got off. The operator says that he did not notice any suspicious looking men about the depot during the night.

The details of the deed are as follows: Last evening five or six men left Racine on a freight train, which they left at Western Union station, remaining there until the express from Chicago came in sight.

They boarded the train, and unknown to any one, made their way to the tender and lay in wait for the favorable moment.

It came soon. About a mile north of the station the fireman began shoveling coal into the fire box, when he was startled by a noise and on turning about to ascertain the cause found himself covered by a rifle in the hands of a masked man.

Another gleaming barrel was pointed at the head of the engineer. The fireman was compelled to go forward and extinguish the headlight on the locomotive.

This accomplished, both he and the engineer were marched ahead of the robbers, who followed in single file to the express car. One of the robbers rapped on the door at the side and ordered Messenger Murphy to open it. This the latter refused to do. Then a bomb was thrown through the window, and the demand was renewed. Still the plucky messenger refused to open the door. Another bomb was thrown, this time square at the door.

A terrible explosion followed, the force of which can be imagined when it is known that the heavy timber running along the side of the car as the foundation upon which it is built, was completely broken in two.

A large hole was made in the door and before the echoes of the explosion had died away and amid the smoke and dust one of the robbers sprang into the aperture and covered the messenger and his assistant with revolvers.

Both men had been thrown down by the terrible concussion. Even then it was some time before Murphy would consent to surrender the keys to the safes.

The explosion had thrown the inside of the car into the greatest confusion. The safes which the robbers were bent on securing were buried beneath the boxes and packages.

Fireman Averill was compelled at the point of a revolver to get into the car and uncover the safes, while the robbers, with the exception of one, who stood guard over him, took care of Engineer McKay and stood ready to receive any of the passengers or trainmen that might attempt to come to the rescue of the express car.

Two of the three safes on the train were thrown out of the door and dragged off a short distance, when after a delay of about half an hour the train was permitted to proceed on its way, arriving in this city at 2:20 this morning.

The scene in the passenger cars while the robbery was being perpetrated was ludicrous in the extreme. In the rear car were several Milwaukeeans, including George Obermann, the brewer, Frank Tappan and Paul Zabel. The curtains were immediately pulled down and the inmates began secreting their money and valuables, hiding them in their stockings and about the car.

The express car, on reaching Milwaukee was unloaded and taken to the shops for repairs. Among the goods taken out a bale of cloaks were fairly blown into ribbons, had the appearance of being put through a threshing machine.

A number of hats, known among ladies as "shapes" were torn and riddled into a shapeless mass.

Messenger Murphy's clothing was stripped into threads, and it is a miracle how he escaped with his life.

Several holes in his hat and coat sleeve were probably made by stones in the dynamite bombs, as there are a large number of these sticking in the sides of the car, where they have penetrated half way through the heavy boards at the side of the car.

The report that he had been shot at by robbers is probably without foundation, as the only reports heard aside from the two explosions were those of the pistol shots fired in the air before the assault on the express car was made.

UNITED STATES MARSHALS

At Work Raising the Blockade at the W. & L. E. Yards,

Under Orders of Judge Ricks—No Trouble Thus Far—One Arrest Made—Railroad Notes.

The strike in the Wheeling & Lake Erie yards is still on. The switchmen are firm and are determined that no freight shall be moved until their demands are acceded to. The company, on the other hand, is not inclined to give in, and a long siege is imminent.

The Ann Arbor and Belt switchmen are in sympathy with the Wheeling men and refuse to switch and Wheeling & Lake Erie freight in or out, consequently it leaves the company in rather a bad plight. Yesterday several cars were loaded with beer from the Finlay brewery, but the Ann Arbor men refused to switch a car load of ice to pack it with, consequently the beer had to be unloaded.

Orders were issued last night for all switchmen to either go to work at 6 o'clock or consider themselves discharged, and call at the office for their time. This morning quite a number applied for and received their money. The boys have conducted themselves in a quite orderly manner all the while.

The company this morning was able to employ a few men, and after the injunction had been served, proceeded to the cleaning up of the blockade. When the men went to work at Ironville no interference was offered, and the work went ahead slowly.

An effort was made last night to move the blockade of freight in the yards by both the Wheeling & Lake Erie and C., J. & M., but no progress was made.

Early this morning attorneys for both companies appeared in U. S. court and filed application for an injunction restraining the strikers from interfering in any manner with the property or operation of the yards of the applicants.

Receiver of the Mackinac, W. H. Brown, in his bill of complaint, said that certain parties had confederated for the purpose of preventing the operation and running of freight trains over the W. & L. E., and that the C., J. & M. uses the terminal facilities of the Wheeling in its operations.

The Wheeling people, in their petition for protection, make a somewhat similar complaint. It made William Butler, C. Welch, John Gurene, A. McCauley, Chas. Mead, D. M. Bruce, Frank Fleming, W. A. Bruce, Ed Wood, J. H. Dickson, Titus Elmer Barnhardt, Chas. E. Robinson and others defendants.

The Michigan Central is also protected in its interests to the same extent as the W. & L. E. and the C., J. & M.

A committee of the strikers visited the United States clerk's office this forenoon and read the orders. They said there was no intention on the part of the strikers to do anything unlawful, but they intended simply to let the road severely alone.

Judge Ricks issued an injunction restraining the switchmen, "confederates and co-conspirators, from all interference with the movement of locomotives," etc.; also with the movement and making up of trains.

Judge Ricks in his order instructed United States Marshal Wade to take such action as he might deem necessary "to prevent all persons from endeavoring by threats, intimidation or violence to keep men from engaging or attempting to engage in the transportation of cars" over said tracks, and to furnish protection to workmen engaged in the movement of cars.

About 10 o'clock Deputy Marshal Hackett served the injunction on the men. They offered no objection and signified their willingness to keep off the company's property, but would not allow the company to bring in men to clear the yards, although officers could do the switching themselves. However, the men made no move to clear the right of way, and not long after Marshal Wade put in an appearance.

Manager Woodford and Attorney Swayne, of the Wheeling, and Superintendent Flanders, of the C., J. & M., were on the ground, and it was concluded to make an effort to make up and move out a train. About this time about a dozen policemen under command of Sergeant O'Sullivan, arrived, and were sworn in as deputy United States marshals.

An engine was run down the track and Marshal Wade and the railroad officials got aboard. Charles Griffith, one of the strikers, also made an effort to get aboard and was promptly arrested. Marshal Wade then read the order of the court and ordered every man off of the company's property, and without further ado every man left, and the engine, with officers aboard ran over to Manhattan Junction to get a train.

Elected Officers.

Stockholders of the Chicago & Erie met at Huntington, Ind., yesterday, and elected directors as follows: J. G. McCullough, John King, E. R. Thomas, G. H. Vaillant, Andrew Donaldson, Samuel Spencer, James H. Benedict and Andrew Wesley Kent of New York; H. H. Brown and John Tod of Cleveland; J. C. Morse of Chicago; Volney T. Molott of Indianapolis, and M. D. Woodford of Cincinnati. The officers for the ensuing year were then elected as follows: J. G. McCullough, president; E. R. Thomas, first vice-president; G. H. Vaillant, second vice-president; Edward White, treasurer, and Arthur Turnbull, secretary.

The Pacific Coast Heard From.

At a meeting of the California State Board of Trade at a meeting held in San Francisco yesterday a committee was appointed to request President Harrison to appoint a resident of the Pacific Coast as successor of Judge Cooly on the Interstate Commerce Commission.

We will also, on same dates, sell excursion tickets at one fare for the round trip from Kansas City to Chicago and return. This is in accordance with our general policy in all cases where rates are made to points in boycotted territory."

TOLEDO, OHIO, NOV. 12, 1891.

Our dearly beloved peanut statesman, Mr. Griffin, has already discovered he called the wrong man a "hound" and "perjuring scoundrel."

If this stampede to Sherman continues it is very likely that before Christmas the ghost of Dave Locke's hate will be a wierd and ghastly orphan.

Uncle Jerry doesn't dodge the issue when he talks. He wants the duty on hides reimposed that the domestic product may bring higher prices and he says so.

The John Sherman men are not the only Ohio republicans engaged in the pleasant pastime of flopping Mr. Foraker. The revolt is becoming general.

The Columbus World is about right in sizing up the situation in this fashion: "Talk about harmony—a cage of hungry lions will be a prayer meeting, compared to the next general assembly.

It will appear very strange to Hon. C. P. Griffin to be obliged to divide the Lucas county representation into three parts the coming winter. Instead of Griffin and nobody down there it will be Heller, Flickinger and Griffin.

The next morning after election, Mr. B. Jones, senior partner of a big Pittsburg iron firm, announced a cut of 10 per cent. in the wages of his employes. Mr. Jones preceded Mr. Quay as chairman of the republican national committee, and is an extreme protectionist. But these inconsistencies have become too common to occasion comment.

Tut, tut, what's the matter with the mild mannered editor of the Napoleon Northwest? After roasting a fellow to a beautiful brown he turns on the heat in this crispy way:

Were it not for such creatures, whose very existence is a stench to the nostrils of all decency; whose genealogy is but a pedigree of beasts, we fancy that hell itself would suspend business for a lack of patronage.

We learn from the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette that the editor of the Blade was in Columbus on Tuesday to pledge the three votes from Lucas county to Mr. Foraker. It was real kind of the Blade to make this promise. It will relieve Messrs. Flickinger and Heller of much time and trouble. They can now remain at home and issue a legislative proxy to their keepers.

Those pesky anarchists in Chicago flaunted the red flag yesterday and indulged in much incendiary language. The police were on hand to preserve the peace, and by their order the reds were obliged to display the American flag. It is very evident the seeds of anarchy are far from being eradicated in Chicago, though another violent outbreak and murderous assault is not anticipated. The hanging of the six was a salutary lesson to those who would raze the cities and destroy the government.

In Secretary Rusk's report it is called "a good result," the removal of the duty, or a portion of it on American meats by France and Germany. And democrats agree with him. It was done to cheapen the necessaries of life for the laboring people in those countries. And we hear no worry among republicans about the grand principle of protection for German and French pig raisers; neither do we hear their cry that to increase the tax would cheapen the product to the consumer—over there. It's only in the United States, just before an election, that these strange things happen.

THE CANADIAN BANKING SYSTEM.

We of the United States, in view of our marvelous progress in all that inures to a country's prosperity, are apt to forget that there are other peoples in the world struggling with the same problems and in some instances meeting them with even greater success than we can boast. Sometimes we blow our horns and imagine ourselves at the head of the procession, when a little look abroad would show us our error. Loyalty to our own country and belief in the superiority of its free institutions does not signify that we can learn nothing from our neighbors. With this prelude against prejudice, the Bee reviews for its readers a thoughtful paper by William C. Cornwall, cashier of the Buffalo bank, Buffalo, N. Y., read before the American Banking Convention in New Orleans today.

Mr. Cornwall has made a close study of the banking systems of different countries and gives it as his resultant opinion that this country is practically at sea on the currency question—"pounding along like a great ship on the ocean, with the engines at their utmost, politics at the wheel, ignorant of our bearings and liable at any moment to collision and disaster." He calls attention to Canada and its banking laws, which country he believes has the best sytsem of any in the world, except, perhaps, that of Scotland, after which it is clearly modeled. The Canadian system has grown to its present commendable state by constant improvement, important amendments to the law going into effect July last.

The paper reviews the history of state and individual bank issues in this country, and the old Continental notes, which were a dead loss to the enormous amount at that time of $196,000,000. In the latter portion of the last century, even when the government was doing its best to keep the poor paper from going flat, $5,000 in Continental money would pay for only one dozen eggs, and $140 were required in exchange for a $7 silk hat. With the final collapse "the word was burned into the language" and the most expressive word for utter worthlessness is still "a continental."

The sketch of the growth of the Canadian system is full of interesting study. From the royal charter banks which issued their own notes to the amount of their paid-up capital (fully secured by a deposit of public or governmental securities, which is the principal of our national bank note issue), coming down through various changes until 1880, what the writer calls "an American situation" was presented. In '81 the bank charters expired and it became necessary to act upon the question of their renewal. And Canadian politics generally resembled an American condition more nearly than was ever approached by any other country. Tariff reform had won a victory and the people clamored for a national currency. Instead of being overwhelmed by the agitation and listening, against conscience, and for any present-moment political gain, we are told that "the best men in the opposition, and the bankers and leading financial minds of the dominion wrested from the fiery struggle a still more perfect bank act," which renewed the charters for ten years more. The crowning achievement of the act of 1880 was the clause that, for the first time made bank notes a prior lien on the assets of the bank, which "drove home once for all the question of security." In 1890 the question of renewed charters again came up. This time, says the writer, there was no such unreasoning burst of fanaticism, manifested by the opposition, all political feeling was put out of sight, and members of both parties gave themselves to the work of considering how to make the act as nearly perfect as possible. It is hardly necessary to say "how differently such things are done in this country," with an inflection which signifies how much better they are managed by our neighbors which, according to this showing, is an undeniable fact.

The Canadian bank act of to-day is a comprehensive piece of legislation containing over one hundred clauses, and under its provisions, says the reviewer, "the banking of Canada is going on in an even, effective manner, and the full requirements of business in the way of currency are met." To recapitulate briefly:

First of all, banks of issue, the joint stock banks, and these are the only ones of which we are treating (there are, of course, in Canada, private banks and savings banks), must obtain their charters from parliament, and must have a subscribed capital of $500,000, with at least $250,000 paid up.

The shareholders in these banks are doubly liable. That is, they can be called upon, in case of failure and deficit, for an amount in addition, equal to what they have already invested in the shares fully paid up.

No dividend is allowed which will impair the capital of the bank, and no dividend higher than 8 per cent. per annum, until a surplus or rest has been built up of at least 30 per cent.

Monthly statements giving full particulars are to be furnished to the government, and these are published in the daily papers.

An annual statement is furnished, with full details of profit and loss, to the yearly meeting of shareholders, and at these meetings the general manager usually delivers an address, and there is a common interchange of views.

In the interest of the government, and in order to keep the dominion note in use, 40 per cent. of the reserve held by the banks is required to be so held in dominion notes; and any bank making a payment up to $100 must, if so requested, pay in dominion notes. (No torn or defaced notes of any kind, either government or bank, are allowed to be paid out).

There are wise restrictions as to loans on real estate, etc., and regulations as to boards of directors. A bank has prior lien on warehoused merchandise, and on stocks and bonds, etc., and is given other privileges. Employes are not forgotten, authority being given to establish guarantee and pension funds out of the bank's holdings, for faithful servants.

Examinations are not conducted by the government, but under the branch system each bank has its inspector general, who is a man of marked ability and skill, a thorough banker by education, advanced from the lowest round, a man who ranks next to the general manager, and fully competent to take the latter's place. With examinations conducted by such men, the Canadian bank shareholders and depositors may well feel assured. (I fear our national and state bank examinations would suffer by comparison.)

The important provisions regarding the issuance of bank notes are as follows: "The amount of notes to be issued must never exceed the amount of unimpaired, paid-up capital; they are a first lien upon the assets of the bank, taking precedence even of government claims. The double liability of stockholders is a last resort to the bank itself in case all the other assets are not sufficient to pay the noteholders. Along with all this, additional security was introduced into the law of 1890 known as the "Bank Circulation Redemption fund."

This fund is made up of a contribution of five per cent. by each bank on the amount of its own notes in circulation for the twelve months previous to July first of each year (adjusted annually.)

The fund is deposited with the government (which allows upon it to the banks three per cent. per annum interest,) and is for the special purpose of redeeming the notes of any suspended bank.

In case of suspension, notes of the suspended bank begin at once to draw interest at six per cent. until redeemed by the receiver of the failed bank. If not redeemed in two months in this way, the notes, with interest, are paid out of the redemption fund, which is reimbursed by the failed bank as soon as possible. In case of depletion of the fund it is to be made up again by contrbutions yearly of one per cent. of its past year's circulation by each bank.

There is no tax upon circulation.

Each bank is required to appoint agencies for the redemption of its notes in the principal cities of Canada, covering all territory from one end of the Dominion to the other. This does away with the old condition which forced notes of far-off banks to a discount, making the currency national (a brilliant quality of our own national bank notes, imparted, however, in a different manner.)

The main feature of this admirable system of banking and note issues are thus briefly enumerated. In order to fully appreciate its workings it must be understood that the branch system is a very necessary part of its operations, and that the notes of all the banks are sent in and redeemed daily, like checks.

The branch system of banking has received little attention in the United States, but its operation in Canada is so effective that only seven banks in the Dominion are without branches, while the other 38 control about 400 bank offices. And thus, quoting from Mr. Walker, general manager of the Canadian bank of Commerce, "these great banks with their branches, gather up the money lying idle in one locality and transmit it, automatically, to another locality which has enterprise enough to use it." (We have no such systematic distribution of money in this country.) And one consequence is, from one end to the other of the broad domain of Canada, the extreme variation of rules of interest is not over two per cent. And in this way the interests of one section are interwoven with the interests of another section.

The two important features of any currency are security and elasticity. Figures, and deductions therefrom show that "every dollar in Canadian bank notes has over nine dollars (on the average) in security back of it to make it good." As to the elasticity of the currency of the United States and of Canada, contrasted, the writer says:

Nobody claims that the National Bank currency possesses or ever did possess the feature of elasticity. It was an expedient, brilliant, but not intended to be scientific, hastening towards inflation at one time, excited by a relish for profit and only controlled by an arbitrary act of Congress, and then, with the profit struck out, it shrank away steadily without any reference to trade requirements at all.

And he concldues, "We have left a splendid organization under efficient control ready for a new system." Claiming that the scientific basis of elasticity in currency is

There must be some inducement or force for issue which will operate when trade requires the bank notes, and ceasing to operate when trade requirement ceases, will extinguish the notes.

In the Canadian system, it is said, "the inducing force is the profit on notes issued and the extinguishing power is the desire of each bank to float its own issues."

Walt Whitman, styled the "good gray poet," nearly 73 years old, is confined to his bed by paralysis, and is no doubt very near the end of this life. Sir Edwin Arnold did him the honor of a visit. English critics are fond of calling him, along with Bret Harte and James Whitcomb Riley, "distinctively American poets," while they claim as English poets, Longfellow and Lowell. They also call Wild Bill's Indians the true Americans (as in one sense they are) and claim our statesmen and scholars as old world people and their descendants. It is a harmless diversion of our cousins. There are many Americans who, while allowing that poor old Walt has a sort of philosophical, poetic strain in his nature, never for a moment call him a writer of poetry. The wonder has been, when he could say so graceful and thoughtful things as he has done occasionally, he could manage to murder in uncouth, incoherent, disjointed language so many more. The last letter he will ever write, addressed to a friend in New York, closes thus pathetically:

"Like the invisible breeze after a long and sultry day, death sometimes sets in at last, soothingly and refreshingly, almost vitally. In not a few cases the termination even appears to be a sort of ecstacy. Of course there are painful deaths, but I do not believe such is the general rule. Of the many hundreds I myself saw die in the fields and hospitals during the secession war, the cases of marked suffering or agony in extremes were very rare. (It is a curious suggestion of immortality that the mental and emotional powers remain to their clearest through all, while the senses of palu and flesh volition are blunted or even gone.) Then to give the following, and cease before the thought gets threadbare:"

Now, finale to the shore!
Now, land life, finale and farewell!
Now, Voyager, depart! (much, much for thee is yet in store.)
Often enough hast thou adventured o'er the seas,
Cautiously cruising, studying the charts,
Duly again to port, and hawser's tie returning,
But now obey thy cherished sceret wish,
Embrace thy friends—leave all in order;
To port, and hawser's tie, no more returning,
Depart upon thy endless cruise, old Sailor!

There is enough spirituality and beauty in these few lines to atone for a great deal. Whitman will be remembered for his gentle nature and his aspirations long after his poetic eccentricities are forgotten and forgiven.

Carter Harrison issued his manifesto this week in his newspaper, the Chicago Times. It will always advocate democratic principles but will never be slave to party; it will be no man's organ; it will avoid scandals and will not invade homes and besmirch private character; it will be the strong advocate of personal, civil and religious liberty. These things are promised over the signature, "Carter Harrison, Editor." Good enough, but, if —— well, here's to the new Times.

A POLITICAL COMBINE.

Alliance and Democrats to Pull Together.

A Fusion in Kansas Which Will Take the Electoral Vote of the State From the Republicans.

Topeka, Ks., Nov. 12.—Every indication points to a great battle for the electoral vote of Kansas next year. Leaders of the people's party and several prominent democrats are in secret consultation here touching this question.

It is believed that an effort will be made to combine the people's party and democracy on an electoral ticket, giving each five, and then make a determined fight to defeat the republican party and take Kansas out of the republican column.

The democrats would agree to support the people's state ticket if the alliance would help them secure the electoral vote.

Not all of the people's party leaders favor this scheme, and many democrats would oppose it. But now that it is concede that there will be no third party in the south the greenback and democratic elements in the people's party would be willing to throw the electoral vote to the democrats if possible, and they gain the offices in the state.

Republican leaders say such an unholy alliance would fail, and that thousands of democrats and alliance men would not sanction it.

The possibility of such a combine has aroused the republicans, and they announce that the campaign is now open, and will stay open until the close in 1892.

THE BRICE ISSUE NOT IN IT.

A double-leaded editorial in the Commercial-Gazette this morning endeavors to force a new issue in the senatorial contest. Brice is the issue, and the effort is to steer republicans from the main issues of the last campaign upon which the victory was won and which naturally settled the senatorial question in Ohio to some future issue which was not regarded in the contest and which is entirely outside of it. The fact is Brice was elected senator regularly by the democratic legislature and received his commission regularly according to law, which commission has been deposited with the senate. The whole question of Mr. Brice's eligibility for the senate is in the hands of that body. We should like to have Ohio represented in the senate by two republicans, and if the senate determines Brice is ineligible we shall rejoice, but the idea of tacking on a condition to the election of John Sherman that he shall champion an effort to oust Brice from the senate borders upon the revolutionary. Undoubtedly Mr. Sherman will reject all such overtures. If the legislature had been democratic there would have been no talk of trying to oust Brice. The fact that the present legislature is republican does not improve the chances because the matter has gone entirely beyond the jurisdiction of our legislature. A bargain on the part of Mr. Sherman to bring about the rejection of Brice from the senate in return for his own re-election to the senate would be no better than securing his election by the use of money. The question of Brice's eligibility is a matter of careful examination and judgment, and is not to be determined upon the lines of party policy or party desire. The Brice business then has no place whatever in the present senatorial contest.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Side Issues Must be Ignored

Tariff reform and that only must be the issue of next year. The democratic party is perfectly united on this issue, and the triumph of McKinley will unite the republicans on McKinleyism. All side issues must be ignored and the one leading and great issue must be brought to the front and kept there.—Springfield Democrat.

CYCLONE STRUCK THE TOWN.

Pittsburg, Nov. 12.—The new town of Kennsington, twenty miles north of this city, was visited by a cyclone and heavy rain storm last night. A number of buildings in course of erection were completely wrecked and cellars were badly flooded. The loss has not been estimated, but will be heavy. No person was injured.

JOLLEY'S PLURALITY.

Pierre, S. D., Nov. 12.—Returns received from every county in South Dakota give Jolley (rep) 16,884, Woods (dem.) 6,674 and Smith (ind.) 13,966 votes for congress. Jolley's plurality is 2,888. The official canvass, which must be made 30 days after the election, will not materially change these figures.

SLAVIN IS TALKING AGAIN.

New York, Nov. 12.—A cable dispatch to the Herald from London says Slavin has stated that he will probably sail for New York on the Germanic on November 29, with the intention of forcing Sullivan to make a match or retire.

OPIUM SMUGGLING.

New York, Nov. 12.—The customs officials have discovered an enormous system of opium smuggling from Canada in which a number of wholesale druggists are said to be involved.

FOR LIFE OR DEATH.

Foraker Is Making a Desperate Attempt

To Sink the Leading Republican of the State.

Sheaman Is a Sly Old Politician However,

And His Friends Are Not At All Alarmed.

The Battle Has Just Fairly Started and From Now On Much of the Crooked Work in the Republican Party Will Come to Light.

Columbus, Nov. 11.—The senatorship question is rapidly pulling to the front in the capital city of Ohio, and soon the victorious republicans will be arrayed against each other in deadly conflict. It will be a "go" to the finish, and there are likely to be some sadly disappointed republicans. Some time prior to the election the Foraker following were warned that the success of McKinley meant the death of their political ideas, and subsequently it was predicted in the specials that, with the success of both McKinley and Sherman, the political life of James G. Blaine, so far as Ohio is concerned, would be snuffed out.

The Forakerites ridiculed the idea, but now begin to realize the truth of the prediction. Even the ex-governor's friends who before the election rested secure in the pledges they had from republican nominees now admit that there is danger ahead. They realize the position they are in but have probably awakened to the fact when it is too late.

From an impartial standpoint it must be admitted the outlook for the success of the ex-governor is not nearly so promising as it was immediately after the election. However, a majority of the members-elct are non-committal, and this is the only salvation of the opposition to Sherman.

The present is a life and death struggle with Foraker. He must either succeed by securing his own election to the United States senate or defeat Sherman. The latter is the least possible thing that will save him from eternal obscurity, politically speaking.

The present stupendous effort in behalf of Sherman is a part of the conspiracy against Foraker and includes among the conspirators Gov.-elect McKinley, Senator Sherman, Secretary Charles Foster, Gen. C. H. Grosvenor and a number of others. They have determined to snuff the political life out of Foraker at any cost if such a thing is possible.

There will be no lack of money to accomplish this result. The combination already has dozens of paid agents traveling over the state. They have taken the place of the federal officers who perambulated over Ohio prior to the election, while the dear people paid them their salaries with strict regularity.

Already there is heard the cry of boodle, and plenty of republicans are to be found who are openly asserting that the Sherman following will not lack for cool cash to be used as "potent influencer" with the non-commital members-elect.

Foraker's friends are likely to come to the front also with a turn of a cash trick or two, and the merry war promises to proceed with unabated fury.

Certain it is that the Foraker men now realize they are confronted with a powerful foe and that the conspiracy formed against them means the utter destruction of their chief unless they are able to stop its onward march. They can unquestionably defeat Sherman if not strong enough to elect the ex-governor, and his following generally stick until the last. The situation is still critical for the sage of Mansfield.

A few of the outside statesmen are dropping into the city, and among those here to-day are John P. Green, who enjoys the distinction of being the first colored man ever elected to the Ohio senate. He has been rated a Foraker man, and while there is little doubt that his personal sympathies are with the ex-governor, he sold out for the nomination and feels bound by that agreement. A correspondent talked over the situation with Mr. Green and the whole trend of his remarks showed his warm feeling for Foraker, and there would evidently be no mistake as to where his vote would go if he was but rid of the gag put in his mouth at the county convention which nominated him.

"I am for Sherman first and Foraker second," he said, when asked for his views, "and don't see how any one could class me differently. The senator understood my position, as also did the ex-governor."

"Then you were pledged in advance?"

"Yes. At one time in the county convention I was knocked out, but I heard a still, small voice which said I might go on the ticket if making proper pledges. I was a little ambitious to be the first colored man to come to the Ohio senate, or for that matter the first to be elected to any northern state, and I made the pledge. I am a business man, you know, and must carry out the contract."

"How will the Cuyahoga delegation stand?"

"Mr. Sherman will get a large per cent of her vote, but some are non-committal, and do not desire to intimate how they will vote in the caucus."

Col. L. C. Poorman, ex-representative from Belmont county, was also in the city. The colonel would like to be a railroad commissioner, and has many friends who would be pleased to see him appointed to the place. Referring to the senatorship question he said: "The sentiment in my county is unmistakably in favor of the re-election of Senator Sherman, and Mr. Heinlein, the member-elect, will represent that sentiment. Personally Mr. Heinlein is a warm friend of Gov. Foraker, but no man could have been nominated and elected in our county unless favorable to Mr. Sherman."

The executive committee of the Ohio league had a session here. As this is the great Foraker organization the ex-governor's managers are feeling more jubilant. They claim to have received information from ten of the republican members-elect who are put down in interviews for Sherman denying that the statements were authorized by them. The league officers had a banquet which was attended by Hon. Charles P. Griffin of Lucas, who is recognized as one of the Foraker managers, although he declines to openly announce himself, and other adherents of that faction of the party. It is presumed the machinery was put in motion for a thorough canvass and persistent fight.

NEW CORPORATION.

Columbus, Nov. 12.—The East Liverpool and Wellsville street railway company was incorporated in the office of the Secretary of State to-day by Messrs. Albert L. Johnson, Sidney H. Short, C. E. Grover, L. A. Russell, and William B. Bolton, all of whom are citizens of Cleveland. The road is to connect the two points mentioned in its name. The company has a capitol stock of $300,000.

The Buckeye Electric company, of Cleveland, to-day filed a certificate with the Secretary of State, increasing its capital stock from $100,000 to $250,000.

ESCAPED FROM JAIL.

Columbus, O., Nov. 12.—The prisoners in the Morrow county jail at Mt. Gilead, O., picked the lock and overpowering the sheriff, made a break for liberty. Every prisoner escaped and none has so far been retaken. Among the number were Rev. Gano, a wife murderer, and two burglars, who are thought to be dangerous crooks.

That Judge Kelly's majority reaches the snug figures of 1,592, obtained in Lucas and Huron counties over and above the democratic majorities in Erie, Ottawa and Sandusky counties.

That the man who says the interviews with Messrs. Flickinger and Heller were not authorized is off his base. The gentlemen not only stated what is credited to them but much more in the same line.

That the Cadets' Cartridge Box next week will be chock full of ammunition intended to produce a great amount of pleasure. Another object is expected to be obtained: it will replenish the company treasury.

That if Toledoans want the next democratic or republican state conventions now is the time to place their views before the committeemen who make the choice. Toledo has a representative on each of the committees this year.

That it was a great sight to witness at the Powderly meeting the "getting together" on the platform of pastors representing Episcopal, Methodist, Unitarian, Congregational and other denominations. And why not more of this?

That the public would like to know what actually passed between Col. Smead, Jake Romeis and C. A. Flickinger at the last republican county convention. Suppose the trio agree on a tri-partite statement. The Bee will print it.

That Capt. W. G. Alexander is ready to purchase a whole book store when favorable figures are obtained. He is authorized to procure 900 books for the Xenia Soldiers' Orphans' home between now and Christmas. What a mark "Alock" will be for the smooth-tongued book agent!

That it was a graceful compliment General Master Workman Powderly paid the District Secretary, Mrs. A. P. Stevens, Tuesday evening, when he said that he had listened to many talks introducing chairmen for meetings, but he had never heard one in which the objects of the gathering were so tersely stated and admirably put. And, concluded Mr. Powderly, Mrs. Stevens is a fair illustration of what the Knights of Labor would make of all women in the line of education. Mrs. Stevens is an honored member of the Bee staff.

THE STARS AND STRIPES

Ordered Up in a Chicago Anarchist Meeting.

Almost a Riot Before the Command Was Obeyed.

Inspector Hubbard and His Chosen Men Force Respect for the Flag Under the Most Trying Circumstances.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—The stars and stripes waved aloft to-night after a scene of excitement unequalled since the Haymarket riot. Over a thousand anarchists and anarchists' sympathizers had crowded into the West Twelfth street Turner hall to commemorate the day, November 11, 1887, on which their fellow anarchists were hung.

It was the most decisive demonstration of the kind in this city since the eventful evening of May 4 when scores of police went down in blood. The speeches were extreme and red emblems covered everything.

The climax came during the incendiary utterances of Henry Weisswan, editor of the New York Baker, a German trades paper.

Inspector of Police Hubbard, accompanied by Lieut. Gibbons and a squad of officers in citizens' clothes were seen to quietly approach the stage. He ordered an American flag placed among the flaming crimson banners which were conspicuous everywhere.

Instantly there was a profound sensation in the motley audience, and the police were hissed from all parts of the hall.

Mrs. Lucy Parsons, who occupied a chair against the rear wall, shrieked out: "Hang the murderers of my husband." In a second pandemonium reigned, hundreds of excited men pushing forward cursing the officers, and seemingly only wanted an odorless bomb to precipitate a fearful spectacle of carnage.

Nevertheless Inspector Hubbard unflinchingly ordered a suspension of the meeting until his commands were obeyed. Through the din the half hundred police could be seen placing their hands on their clubs and revolvers preparatory for a fight, which seemed inevitable.

It was fully ten minutes before order was restored. The flag meanwhile had been reluctantly hoisted to a place over the stage, a proceeding only accomplished when the officers were found ready for action and cooler heads among the excited audience and the spectators had time to exercise some influence.

The meeting had been taken completely by surprise else a more tragic result might have followed. The first the crowd knew of the police being present was when Inspector Hubbard with his detail entered from a side door under the stage, having come up by a private entrance. When he ordered the hoisting of the American flag, the tension was something almost unprecedented. Hiss after hiss and yell after yell frantically rose until the audience seemed like a thousand demons instead of human beings.

The leaders of the meeting say that the gathering was only to show regard and reverence for the men who perished while laboring for the benefit of humanity. When the proceedings opened the stage was fairly buried in red bunting, banners and trimmings. In the front of the structure on either side stood out in bold contrast to the surroundings bronze busts of Spies and Parsons. These were cheered wildly by the spectators.

To the left of the stage was nailed a banner with the inscription: "There Will Come a Time When Our Silence Will Be More Powerful Than Our Voices," Spies' words on the scaffold. Against the stage wall were pictures of five of the dead anarchists, while directly above it was the motto, "Murdered, but Not Dead."

Two banners bore the German inscriptions, "Equal Rights for All" and "Liberty and Freedom."

Suddenly the band struck up the familiar tune of "Annie Laurie," which with "Marseillaise" had been sung by Fisher in jail here just before he was executed with Spies and the others. The band continued until the chairman announced the appearance of the Anarchistic Chorus, composed of about sixty male voices under the directitn of Prof. Richter. They were cheered long and boisterously, combined with yelling and the stamping of feet.

Editor Jacob Weisswenn then appeared. He is a middle-sized man with light hair and mustache, and partly bald. His appearance was greeted with enthusiastic shouts. He commenced with the troubles of organized labor, and the opposition with which it met from organized capital. After a flaming introduction he launched forth into the fatal Haymarket riot, telling of the alleged peaceable assemblage of citizens held for the purpose of discussing their grievances, then detailed what he claimed to be the unwarranted attack of the police and their assault with clubs and revolvers, and adding the right of those assembled to defend themselves and with the bomb.

It was at this juncture, just as the speaker was describing the courts as prostituted and that it was the poverty-stricken condition of the masses that actuated Spies and Parsons to their acts of desperation, that the police made their entrance and the consequent uproar ensued.

When the police orders had been finally obeyed another meeting was announced for to-morrow night at the old-time anarchist rendezvous, Grief's hall, on Lake street.

DOCTORS IN CONSULTATION

Advice about a Sure Medicine.

All physicians advise a medicine in the Fall. People emerge from the heat of Summer run down in health with malaria, causing them to feel weak, languid, tired, nervous with their stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys out of order. The great question with everybody is, what to take?

At a recent congress of physicians this question was very positively settled by the unanimous recommendation to the public to use DR. GREENE'S NERVURA, as this remarkable medical discovery strengthens the brain and nerves, invigorates and vitalizes the blood, and perfectly regulates the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

A. J. Marston, M. D. of Philadelphia, editor of the "Eastern Medical Journal" and formerly professor of a medical college, said of Dr. Greene's wonderful discovery: "It is a harmless vegetable remedy. Its medical properties are splendid. It restores exhausted nerve-power and re-establishes lost vitality."

S. M. Reynolds, M. D., the great New York Specialist, stated: "I unhesitatingly pronounce it the most valuable nerve remedy I have ever used."

D. Henry Peffer, also of New York, spoke enthusiastically of the great remedy, DR. GREENE'S NERVURA: "It is a perfect and complete cure for sleeplessness, headache, nervous weakness and debility."

The eminent Emil Neumer, M. D., superintending physician of one of New York's great hospitals said: "We are using DR. GREENE'S NERVURA at the hospital for our patients with good success."

Use DR. GREENE'S NERVURA if you need a strengthening medicine. Druggists sell it, $1.00.

N. B.—Dr. Greene, the successful specialist in curing all forms of nervous and chronic diseases, 35 W. 14th Street, New York, can be consulted free, personally, or by letter. Call or write him about your case, or send for symptom blank to fill out, and a letter fully explaining your disease, giving advice, etc., will be returned free.

SOME DAY.

You smooth the tangles from my hair
With gentle touch and tenderest care,
And count the years ere you shall mark
Bright silver threads among the dark;
"You'll think of this again, some day.
Some day!

I do not scorn the power of time
Nor count on years of fadeless prime;
But no white gleams will ever shine
Among these heavy locks of mine.
Ah, laugh as gayly as you may,
You'll think of this again some day.
Some day!

Some day I shall not feel as now
Your soft hand rove about my brow,
I shall not slight your light commands
And draw my tresses through your hands;
And you—you will not laugh—that day—
Some day!

I know how long your loving hands
Will linger with these glossy bands,
When you shall weave my latest crown
Of their thick masses long and brown.
But you will see no touch of gray
Adown their shining length that day—
Some day!

And while your tears are falling hot
Upon the lips which answer not,
You'll take from these one treasured tress
Leaving the rest to silentness,
Remembering that I used to say
"You'll think of this again some day—
Some day!

England does not forget her great men, of which she has had a great number. A statue of John Bright was recently unveiled at Manchester, England, by Lord Derby. It is the work of Bruce Joy, who has exhibited his works in this country, and is said to be a very good likeness.

Occasionally things occur to remind one that formerly this nation had so little conscience and so low a moral standard that it permitted "involuntary servitude" to exist. At Sharon, Ga., last week a lot of fodder was sold that was gathered in 1858 by a slave. It was as bright and as sound as on the day it was put up.

A Leeds England, inventor claims that he has constructed several electric clocks which are driven by natural electricity from the earth itself. The Jewish Messenger, of New York city, in referring to Jewis himmigration to the United States, says: "If Baron Hirsch would establish places of refuge in Europe where the Jewish refugees might be prepared for a new life and new homes, he would be rendering the best service. A London letter says the colony of Sierra Leone is 106 years old, and yet it is said that there is no machinery there except the sewing machine. The population is upward of 50,000, and not a saw mill or any other kind of a mill is in operation. There is plenty of building material, stone and wood, and as for bricks, if anybody would make them and set them up in the sun they would "burn themselves" if left alone.

Timid farmers in the neighborhood of Genesee, Idaho, are apprehensive lest their farms may sink into a subterranean lake. A man was recently digging a well, and when he had gone down 16 feet water gushed out, filling the well and flooding the surface of the ground. Finally it settled back to the earth's level. A local paper says that peculiar sightless fish were brought to the surface in the overflow, indicating the existence of an underground lake.

The record of earthquake shocks kept at the Smithsonian institution in Washington shows that there have been more of them this year thus far than there were in any previous year of recent times. There have been numerous slight shocks in many parts of the country, and there have been heavier shocks in South America, Asia, Africa and the islands of the Pacific. When the earthquake record of the world for the year 1891 is made up at the end of December it will be long and elaborate.

Never keep your hat on your head any longer than is necessary. Such is the warning of a chemist who says: "Even in hats there is poison. Alcoholic beverages, tobacco, tea, coffee, milk, water, air, the money we interchange, all are dangerous, toxic; any of them, enough, in fact, to give a nervous man nightmare. But the 'top' hat, this is the last blow. Man has clung to it so long and so loyally. Lead poisoning is the danger in hats, particularly in new ones."

It is reported that Melbourne, the "rain wizard," has sold the secret of the mysterious process by which he produces rain. The name or names of the purchasers have not as yet been made public, but it is safe to bet that Jay Gould has an interest in the purchase. If there is any one person above all others in the country who would be interested in some new method of producing moisture, that person is Jay Gould. The old methods of watering stock have become about played out, and some new process, not generally understood, is greatly wanted.

Major-General Hunter, who commanded in the Shenandoah valley before Sheridan entered it, was a famous horseman, says the Rider and Driver. In camp, however, he was fond of lounging about in a private's flannel blouse, with an old battered briarwood pipe between his teeth. In that guise no one would take Hunter for a federal general.

A newspaper correspondent, who had never seen Hunter, rode up one day to his quarters at Monocacy Bridge. The correspondent was gotten up in great style, and evidently thought a great deal of himself. Seeing a man sitting at the foot of a tall pine tree, comfortably smoking, he asked the man where Gen. Hunter was.

"He's somewhere about here," replied the man.

"Well, just hold my horse," said the correspondent, "while I look for him."

The man obediently got up from his seat in the dead pine needles and took the horse's bridle.

Then the correspondent hunted up the chief of staff and inquired for the general.

"Gen. Hunter is out among the trees," said the aide, stepping out of his tent.

"Why, there he is now, holding that horse! What the devil does that mean?"

The correspondent retreated rapidly and in rather bad order, mounting his saddle without a word, and rode away. He never ventured near Gen. Hunter again.

A GREAT MEETING IN BOSTON

World's Women's Christian Temperance Union.

It Will Open on Friday and Be Addressed By Delegates From All Over the Globe.

Boston, Nov. 12.—The first of the preliminary meetings of the dual convention of the World's and National Women's Christian Temperance Unions, which opens in this city Friday, has been held by the executive committee of the World's Women Christian Temperance Union.

Miss Willard, president of the World's and the National Women's Christian Temperance Unions, occupied the chair.

Representatives and delegates were present from every quarter of the globe, among them Lady Somerset and Miss Hall, of England; Miss Telsono, the woman lawyer from Japan; and members from Honolulu, China, Australia, and South Africa, Italy, Brumah, India, and France and England.

Executive business included plans of the work for the coming year in all parts of the world. The various delegates gave very interesting reports of the temperance movement in foreign lands.

Lillie Ruth Shafner, of China, Mrs. Wallace W. Trumbull, of St. John, N. B.; Mrs. Mary Lowe, of Melbourne, Australia; Mrs. Foster, Quebec; Mrs. Mary G. Bumstead and Miss Campbell, of Cape Colony, Africa; Mrs. Julia Tilley, of Toronto; Mrs. Sarah Bowles, Van Couver, and Mrs. Angelna, representing Italy, told of the progress of the temperance cause in their countries and their methods and needs.

Committees were appointed on credentials, on declaration of principles, and on plans o fwork. It was voted that the name of the organization should be the "World's Woman Christian Temperance Union." A lengthy discussion ensued upon the question of whether or not superintendents of departments should be made members of the executive committee. Pending a settlement of the matter a recess was taken.

CARAGHAR'S NEW CHURCH.

Beautiful Structure Dedicated by Fr. Boff.

Fr. McGuire's Eight Years of Hard Labor Has Done Much Good for the Church in His Section.

Caraghar, O., Nov. 12.—(Special)—Last Sunday Very Rev. Father Boff solemnly dedicated Rev. Father McGuire's new church at St. Mary's Corners, Caraghar, Fulton county, O. From an early hour people began to assemble from all quarters. Delta, Metamora, Spencer, Swanton, Blissfield and Wauseon were all represented. The church, a magnificent structure of brick, set off and ornamented with cut stone, with a fine slated tower 120 feet high, surmounted by a beautiful large cross, looked as if it realized that it was about to be with solemn rites and ceremonies dedicated to the Most High.

A procession was formed, headed by the St. Mary's cornet band. As soon as the cross-bearer, attended by two acoyites, appeared, followed by people carrying beautiful banners, all heads were uncovered.

Then the Venerable Father Boff, dressed in sacred vestments, went around the outside walls and blessed them, after which he entered the church and intoning the Litany of all saints blessed the inside of the church.

The church being dedicated high mass was sung by the reverend pastor.

After the first gospel the very reverend administrator addressed the vast audience in English and German, congratulating people and priest, and thanking them in the name of the church for erecting and completing such a truly beautiful church.

In the evening solemn vespers were held, with Father Boff as celebrant, Father Kleecamp as deacon and Father McGuire as sub-deacon.

Altogether last Sunday was a happy day for the good people and pastor of St. Mary's church, a day that will ever be remembered with feelings of honest pride and gratitude.

It was a day long looked for by Father McGuire as witnessing the consummation of his eight years of arduous, self-sacrificing work.

In about another month or six weeks the beautiful church now under construction at Swanton will also be ready for dedication. Then the work for which Father McGuire was sent by the late Bishop Gilmour will be completed, and now his superiors are about to transfer him to a more important and wider place of labor where his indomitable energy, wise zeal and abilities will find ampler room for their exercise.

A COMPLIMENTARY VOTE.

Who Will Get the Democratic Indorsement for U. S. Senator?

Upper Sandusky, O., Nov. 12—(Special)—In the selection of a United States senator this year the Thirty-first district will not be consulted. The district is too strongly democratic to be given a say in the matter. However, some one is to receive a complimentary vote, and in this the Thirty-first will be more the entitled to an expression.

Senator-elect W. C. Gear was found in a talkative mood to-day. "Who will get the complimentary vote for senator, Mr. Gear?" interrogated the correspondent.

"Well, really I don't know. Perhaps Campbell, possibly Jimmie Neal. Both deserve it."

"How about McLean?" was asked.

"No, no; McLean won't get it."

Touching on the contest between Sherman and Foraker Mr. Gear was of the opinion that the former would greater please the people of the Thirty-first district, "but for myself," he added, with a sly gleam in his eye, "I would rather see Foraker elected. He would do us good."

DIAZ IS NOT FUND HUNTING.

Washington, Nov. 12.—There is no foundation whatever for the report being circulated that President Diaz started incognito from the City of Mexico about six weeks ago on a secret mission to England via the United States, sailing from New York for Liverpool, for the purpose of raising money to replenish the Mexican treasury.

CHILDREN TEETHING.

It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

TOOK HIS OWN LIFE.

New York, Nov. 12.—George Lawrence, a Pittsburg merchant, was found dead in his bed at the Everett house yesterday morning. A bullet wound was in his head and his right hand grasped a revolver. He left a note stating his intention to kill himself.

Caution.—Beware of imitators in South Bend and elsewhere who copy Miss Flora A. Jones' advertisements, circulars, and letters. Get the genuine Blush of Roses, which you will always find at reliable druggists.

THE FARMERS.

The Ohio Grange Wants the Ballot Law Amended.

Springfield, O., Nov. 12.—There are over 1,000 grangers here to-day and they are still coming in. Even far Washington state is properly represented. The national grange opened with Master Col. J. H. Brigham in the chair.

The state grange adopted very strong resolutions before adjourning. It favors an amendment in the Australian ballot system so as to have electors mark each candidate and proposition they wish to vote for; the election of United States senator by popular vote; free coinage of silver; further reduction of salaries of public officials is asked, and a reduction to a 2 cent per mile on railroads.

FACTS FROM FINDLAY.

A Big Blaze in a Flouring Mill.

Bartender Assaulted and Robbed—Reception to McConica and Carney—General Mention.

Findlay, O., Nov. 12.—(Special)—A disastrous fire occurred yesterday, resulting in the total destruction of McManness & Arnold's flouring mill and elevator at Crawford and East streets. The loss will reach over $50,000, with an insurance of nearly $12,000.

Assaulted and Robbed.

A murderous assault was made upon Thomas Howley, bartender in Ed Meeker's saloon in the Heck addition, by two masked men who, after having pounded him over the head until he was senseless and almost dead, tied him down with a rope and then broke open the money drawer which contained $293, and made good their escape.

Approaching Marriage.

The announcement is made that Prof. W. H. Wagner, one of the able educators of the Findlay college faculty, will be united in marriage with Miss Rose Winchell, of Rising Sun, a charming and accomplished young lady of the senior class at the college. Prof. Wagner and Miss Winchell have a host of friends throughout the city, and they will doubtless be overwhelmed with advance congratulations. The happy event will occur on the 24th of December.

A Pleasant Reception.

There was a large attendance of representative men of all political parties last evening at the reception tendered Senator-elect McConica and Representative-elect Carney by the ladies of the Howard M. E. church, of which both are members. Dr. N. B. C. Love, pastor of the church, called the gathering to order and conveyed to the officials-elect the congratulations of the ladies, who hoped they would be successful and honored as representatives of the people in the general assembly.

A Corner Stone Laid.

The corner-stone laying of the Second Presbyterian church was an occasion of much interest. The music was very fine and appropriate. Mr. Will Willett, Mrs. J. O. Reed and Mr. F. A. Brown led in the music, Mrs. Morgan presiding at the organ. Addresses were delivered by Rev. R. H. Holyday, on "Pioneer Presbyterianism." Rev. Y.B. Campbell, of Ada, spoke of the mission of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. Augustus Taylor, of Dunkirk, spoke of the "Well-Springs of Zion." Rev. J. R. Mitchell had charge of these services and made some fitting remarks at the close.

MOST PEOPLE

Know only a comparatively few things thoroughly—all else is more or less uncertain.

Take your own case. What do you know about CARPETS, for instance? Are you competent to detect poor materials, or imperfect weaving, or unreliable colorings, or old-style patterns?

No.

Then will it not be wisdom on your part to make your purchases of CARPETS where all these points are taken care of in your interest, and where you are protected, not only from direct misrepresentation, but from the results of your own inexperience?

That seems plain enough.

Just two things we promise every customer. They are these:

That every salesman shall tell the whole truth about every piece of goods offered for sale; that anything which proves imperfect, through the appearance of any hidden defect subsequent to purchase, shall be made right.

The name of our firm stands behind these two guarantees.

Very likely you are thinking of purchasing one or more CARPETS shortly. If so, consider what we have said.

TOLEDO REAL ESTATE.

A Number of Deals Made the Last Week.

Big Transfer of Collingwood Avenue Property.

The Need of a Fire Marshal—New Additions Platted the Past Season — Deeds Filed With the Recorder.

Real estate has been rather quiet this week. The weather has been exceedingly unfavorable to activity. Cold and rain above and mud below cut a wide swath in the sales of the average real estate dealer.

The transfers filed for record at the recorder's office show a good many transactions, but they are small, single lots for immediate use. Business will not be overly active until spring, when the movement will open with renewed vigor.

The Buildings Should Be Inspected.

Toledo is growing and improving more and more every year, which is highly gratifying to the average citizen. The kind of improvement that merely sheds over vacant lots is not what is wanted, but structures so substantial from foundation to roof that they will stand as monuments to the integrity and progress of the citizens for years to come.

To accomplish this it is necessary that no fire traps or shaky structures are erected, and to prevent such work it is necessary that authority of the law be vested in some person whose duty it may be to prevent the construction of any such buildings. Said Secretary C. M. Lang of the board of underwriters:

"Toledo should have a building law providing for a fire marshal, whose duty it would be to investigate and inspect the plans and proceedure of every building put up in Toledo. There is plenty of work to occupy the whole time of such an official. For instance, if a man wants to cut a hole in the wall of his building it should be submitted to the fire marshal and done with his consent. He should look after the flues and sanitary condition of every building. You have no idea how much combustible material is piled up in and out of the business rooms of Toledo. We have no authority to order the stuff carted away, and that is what is wanted—a man who can go in and compel these places to be cleaned out.

"Another thing, piles and piles of rubbish accumulate every day, which was burned before the advent of natural gas as fuel."

Said L. T. Richardson, member of the board of fire commissioners: "Toledo should have a fire marshal, and what is more we are going to have one. Last winter a legislative bill providing for such an official was presented to the council for approval, but was lost in the shuffle. It will be presented again this winter, and it is to be hoped that it will be approved. The bill will provide for the inspection of the plans and construction of all new buildings and repairs by a man who will be known as fire marshal, to be appointed by the board of fire commissioners. This man must be a competent and practical architect or builder, who will be able to locate any defect or violation of the law in the plans submitted for his inspection. He will be paid a good salary, must put in all his time, and his qualification is to consist of ability, not political pull. He will be retained as long as he does his duty and not a minute longer. The bill provides for the thickness of walls, foundation of building of a certain height, and many other points. If the bill becomes a law there will be a material reduction in insurance rates. That any insurance man can tell you."

More Acre Property To Be Platted.

Slowly but surely Toledo reaches out for farm lands to supply its citizens with suburban homes.

This week Samuel Blanchard, by his agent, E. F. Drake, sold to Thomas Mcgrath of East Toledo 22 acres of land on Collingwood avenue for $30,000. This property is to be platted at once, and no doubt before this time another year will be built up and improved beyond recognition.

Pretty Good Place to Live.

"Toledo is a pretty good place to live, at least it is plenty good enough for me," remarked a resident of Toledo who travels considerably, "and one has but to visit some other cities to appreciate the general cleanliness, purity and good health prevailing in Toledo. Go to Cincinati, for instance, and some quarters of the city are simply loathsome. People living in hovels and squalor that is sickening, and it can't help but breed disase and sickness. You will find little tumbled down tenement houses with 30 and 40 Italians stowed away in the vermin infested rooms. The shanty found here and there in Toledo would be a palatial residence compared with some of the traps found in other cities.

"You will find no such state of affairs in Toledo, and it is like emigrating to another land to get home after living in the polluted atmosphere of some of these cities. A man can feel the change in the atmosphere in the very expansion of his lungs, the air is pure and bracing. Then go in whatever direction you will, Toledo is clean, that is, clean in speaking of the city as a whole. It is true there are some localities that could be improved, but such places will be found in the smallest country village. But for comfortable homes, good living, pure air and general prosperity among all classes, Toledo leads them all."

'Twas a Prosperous Season.

"Toledo never passed a more prosperous season in real estate than the one just closing," remarked Robert McCaskey, the veteran real estate dealer, to a Bee. "There were more transactions made than I ever knew of in one season since I have been in the real estate business in Toledo. True there were not so many large deals made, but the city is just as well off notwithstanding. The sale of small property this season has been something phenomenal, and it all sold for immediate use, to men who intend to improve it at once, or very soon. For this reason the sale of so much small property is exceedingly beneficial to Toledo, and property owners as well. Suppose I sell a lot in the middle of a vacant plot and the buyer builds a house, my adjoining property is enhanced in value, as one house is soon followed by another, and in a very short time the whole vacant plot is built up."

New Additions.

Only two new additions have been filed at the recorder's office since the last report. Nearing's sub-division of lot 361, Stickney's third addition, is owned and platted by the First National bank. It fronts on Ontario and Ash streets, and consists of six lots ranging in size from 140 feet long and 33 feet wide to 90 feet long and 35 feet wide.

Nearing sub-division of lots 281 and 282 Stickney's Third addition, is owned by Mars Nearing. It fronts on Michigan street and embrace six lots 124 feet long and 33 feet wide.

HON. CLEM CARPENTER

Gives Some Interesting Facts About Chili.

He Writes a Paper for the Michigan Board of Health Anent Beliefs and Superstitions in Chili Relative to Diseases.

Hon. Clement Carpenter, of this city, formerly secretary of the American legation in Chili, has written an interesting paper for the Michigan state board of health, anent beliefs existing in Chili relative to the disease.

In the annual report of the board appears the following:

In several papers published in the annual report of this board the fact has been pointed out that most of the diseases of the lungs and air-passages, and also several of those communicable diseases which enter by the way of air-passages, increase after the cold, dry wheather, and decrease after warm, moist weather. In an article on the Causation of Pneumonia, Dr. Henry B. Baker, secretary of this board, has suggested that pneumonia, one of the most important diseases, would be lessened by securing the proper warming and moistening of all the air breathed indoors. In the following letter from Hon. Clement Carpenter, ex-secretary of legation to Chili, there is apparently evidence as to the increase of all these diseases under conditions the reverse of those recommended—evidence which it would be difficult and perhaps impossible to obtain in this country.

From the tables given, exhibiting the temperature and humidity of the atmosphere in certain parts of Chili in comparison with the same for Michigan, it may be seen that these climatic conditions (which appear to sustain causal relation to the diseases of the lungs and air-passages, and those communicable diseases which enter the body by way of the air-passages), are not so severe in those parts of Chili as they are in Michigan—that the atmosphere is not so cold and dry there as in Michigan; yet from Mr. Carpenter's letter these diseases appear to be more prevalent and fatal in Chili than in Michigan. This is probably, in part at least, due to the greater exposure to which the people of Chili submit themselves by not artificially warming their homes durnig the winter months (June, July and August).

Following the tables is Mr. Carpenter's paper which is as follows:

Dear Sir—Your kind letter requesting me to write you as to beliefs and superstitions of the people of Chili about the effects of cold, draughts of cold air and cold weather disease is received.

Chili has at present a coast line longer than from Labrador to the southernmost point of Florida, and, of course, has every variety of climate. The winters in the central and southern portions of the country being as severe as with us, yet no amount of argument could persuade its people into heating their houses after our methods, or in fact heating them at all. They will bundle and wrap themselves up in heavy clothing in all manner of ways, yet would avoid a fire as they would a pestilence.

The capital of the country, Santiago, with a population of over 200,000 souls, is in a climate much like that of San Francisco. It is nearly 2,000 feet above the level of the sea, and in the winter months of June, July and August the weather for weeks at a time is uncomfortably cold, yet there are no stoves and no fire-places except in the few dwellings occupied by foreign residents. A prevalent idea among cultivated people of the country is that a fire continually burning in a room vitiates and destroys the air, and that the habit of sitting by a fire injures the circulation and enervates the system. This idea has full possession of the ladies as of the gentlemen, and as a result of its prevalence is a resort to all manner of expedients to keep warm without the presence of fire. Chilian ladies receive company in rooms cold enough to make one's teeth chatter, and keep warm by means of heavy clothing and constant exercise. Even the lawyers in their offices never have any fires, but sit at their desks in clothing which suggests that they must have taken the very hides off their clients, and with their feet encased in fur rugs and foot warmers lined with fur, with fur caps upon their heads.

It is considered and probably is dangerous and foolhardy either in Peru or Chili to remain in a draught of air any length of time, and in visiting Spanish houses, if one seats oneself between two open doors or windows, his attention will be immediately called to his dangerous position by some one.

In Chili they have a specific disease which they call Lrae, brought about, as is claimed, entirely by cold draughts of air. It is a kind of neuralgia, affecting chiefly the nose and the muscles of the face, and you meet many people disfigured by it.

In the mountains and rock from the seas great care is observed in the matter of keeping the body well covered while sleeping during the night time, and strangers are repeatedly warned that it is dangerous to fail to carefully observe this custom. There is a Spanish saying among people in the country that runs something after this wise: One Spaniard complains to another about his wife, whereupon the person addressed immediately asks why he does not contrive to uncover her feet some night, which is equivalent to asking why he does not take her life.

There are a great many deaths in Santiago every year from consumption, and from the beginning to the end of the winter season diphtheria and small-pox rage there with a violence and an intensity and to an extent that we know nothing about, and have never experienced in this country in cities of like population.

The Santiganas seem to have great fear of throat and lung troubles, and the custom of covering the mouth and nostrils with some soft fabric when in the open air on cold days or nights is universally observed. A Chilano gentleman or lady would never think of drawing the cold air of a keen frosty morning directly into the lungs.

A very singular superstition of the country exists relative to small-pox and headache, to the effect that if one sits in the sun one will be sure to contract the former, and one can avoid and also cure the latter by fastening a leaf on each temple.

Electricity does not manifest itself on the west side of the Cordillera as it does elsewhere, thunder storms are exceedingly rare, the last one in Chili occurring something over 12 years ago. Many doctors resident in South America say that this in some way has much to do with disease and its manifestations; however this may be there is no denying the fact that sickness of every kind there, is more violent in its character than here. Complaints and difficulties here that are treated without the physician and borne by the patient and not accounted of much moment, are very different and much more painful than with us.

Chili has an enormous death-rate, and probably four-fifths of it among adults is directly brought about by intemperance in the use of intoxicating drinks. There are times in every year in the country during certain periods that it is impossible sometimes for days for railroad companies and employers of any description to get the laborer to do anything, solely on account of drunkenness. Public works in certain cities have been known to lie idle for several weeks because the laborers were all drunk, and it is a fact thoroughly understood in Santiago and all the northern cities of Chili that it is impossible to get any work done on Monday, simply because everybody goes on a spree Saturday night and no one expects to recover from it until Monday morning. In this matter the women among the laboring classes are as bad as the men. I have walked down the Alameda in Santiago early of a morning after the celebration of some great national festival in commemoration of some battle when it would almost seem as if the battle had just been fought over again and the dead and wounded were lying under my feet. You could count them in groups of tens and twenties, lying indiscriminately, men and women, dead drunk all over the ground.

There are many strange remedies administered for diseases in Chili. Anointing the body with oil, as hot as it can be borne, is a favorite practice for all bowel troubles. Quinine is taken largely as here, but invariably in what would seem to be infinitesimal doses. There is a tea that comes from Patagonia which is used extensively in throat and lung troubles.

The peons, or common laboring people, are doctored by a class of sooth-sayers and charm doctors of their own set who go about among them from house to house, somewhat after the fashion of the voudo doctors among the darkies of the south.

The medical profession of Chili is, as it ought to be, under strict governmental supervision, the government going so far as to require the physician or surgeon to attend the funerals of his victims. Sickness or very urgent professional engagements alone constitute a valid excuse for their absence, in which case the physician's buggy and servant follow the hearse. The reason for this regulation is undoubtedly public policy which the world over, in the absence of any other explanation, is held responsible for so many legal enactments.

Respectfully yours,

CLEMENT CARPENTER.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Current for Produce and Other Articles.

Winter storage.—The Lake Shore railway company have made a rate of winter storage on a limited quantity of grain of 2 1-2c per bu from December 1 to April 15.

The Wabash, and the C., H. & D. elevators have made the above rate without limit, and the Wabash also makes a rate from Oct. 1 to April 15 of 3c.

London wheat market firm and three pence per quarter higher; corn steady. Liverpool wheat firm and 1-2 pence per 100 pounds higher. Corn firm and shade higher.

The receipts of wheat at seven principal western points to-day are 1,252,750 bu, compared with 521,865 bu on the same day last year.

California wheat movement.—The receipts at San Francisco in the week ending Nov. 4 equaled 633,963 bu of wheat and 24,447 bbls of flour. The exports from July 1 to Nov. 4, flour and wheat, equal 11,205,171 bu of wheat, compared with 7,931,727 bu in the corresponding period in 1890.

The receipts of wheat to-day at seven principle western points are 730,885 bu in excess of the corresponding Thursday in 1890. The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were 220,639 bu wheat and flour to an aggregate of 350,000 bu. The exports of corn were 58,436 bu. English markets as reported herein are firm and higher for wheat and firm for corn.

Our extracts from Dorubusch herein fairly corroborate the statement that this country is the arbiter of values this year on bread stuffs. Of course this means within reasonable limits. And yet dealers are not happy without selling down the market whenever it looks temporarily weak. It cannot always be strong. In proof of our American position this year, let us say that day before yesterday prices were lower here, and English markets declined yesterday. Yesterday our prices recovered the loss of the day before, and English markets have done so to-day.

Out of 1,253,000 bus. wheat received to-day at seven principal points 692,000 bus. are at Duluth and Minneapolis. Duluth receipts are largely in excess of Mineapolis.

The markets are now under the control of weather influences. The temperature at Miles City, Mont., this morning is 8 degrees below zero, and the Toledo signal officer predicts a temperature of 15 degrees here to-morrow morning. This cold wave restricts selling and restricts buying. We do not suppose a "cold snap" will do any harm if the weather turns soft again, but the uncertainty holds the market. At the opening to-day wheat was strong and advanced 3-4c, but there was too little strength in the market to solidify the bulge, and markets lost the advance, but by 12 o'clock had again advanced 3-4c. New York seems to be the leading market to-day.

Corn has been weak all day, although receipts at all points are light, and the old crop about petered out. Chicago estimates for to-morrow are more liberal.

Liverpool closed about steady for cash wheat. Some futures lower. New York reports immense sales of wheat for export, but it does not move out very largely.

The wheat markets have been unsteady. In New York Nov. wheat closed at a loss of 3-8c; Dec. at yesterday's price. Nov. and Dec. corn 1 1-2c lower. Nov. oats 3-8c lower.

In Chicago December declined and closed at a loss of 5-8c. November corn 1c and November oats 5-8c lower.

In Toledo.—The trading in wheat futures has been limited. Dealers are in a waiting mood. Buyers do not care to load up nor sellers to let go on weather indications. Opening and later prices were 1-2c to 5-8c better, but December closed where it did yesterday and May at a gain of 1-8c. On the call December sold at $1.00 3-8@1.00 1-2; May at $1.07 1-2@1.07 3-8. After the call December sold at $1.00 5-8@1.00 3-4, and closed at $1.00 1-8. After change at $1.00 1-8. May sold at $1.07 1-2@1.07 3-4, and closed at $1.07 1-8. After change at $1.07 1-8.

The opening prices showed only insignificant changes from those of last night, but the early trading developed a firm tone and prices advanced 1-8 to 5-8 for general list and 1 per cent. for Tennessee coal by 10:30. The markt then became dull and continued so during the remainder of the morning. DEATH AND DESTRUCTION

The Waters Subsiding and Details Coming In.

Farms Wrecked, Houses Gone and the Inhabitants Depressed—The Total Loss of Life Will Be Enormous.

Madrid, Nov. 12.—It is now becoming possible to witness to some extent the great devastation that has been caused by the tremendous floods which have swept over so many parts of Spain during the past month or so.

Beginning with the terrible disaster at Consuegra, when that place was practically swept from the face of the earth, and where the loss of life mounted up into the thousands, the country has been subjected to a series of floods without parallel in the history of Spain.

It is believed that the total loss of life will never be accurately known, but it is to be hoped that the country will never again be visited by such a series of disasters as have marked the year 1891.

From many places the joyful intelligence is telegraphed that the waters are subsiding and that the rivers are seeking their natural channels. But the scenes in the country visited by the floods are distressing.

The fields that before the inundation smiled with the promise of abundant harvests are now bleak and desolate. Many farms lying on the lower ground are covered with broken trees, matted branches, stones and rubbish of every description, deposited there by the receding waters.

A scene of the greatest devastation presents itself in the valley of the Jucar river. This river rises in the Sierra Ajlbarracin and flows into the Mediterranean at Cullera. It is about 200 miles long. Along the banks the land is fertile and large sections of the country in its vicinity were devoted to the cultivation of oranges.

To-day the well-tilled groves and fertile farms are wrecked. The deep, rushing waters swept furiously through the orange groves, tearing the branches filled with green and ripened fruit from the trees and otherwise damaging them. In fact it will be a matter of rejoicing among the orange growers if they can get half a crop from the trees which are left standing. The other crops on the farms, wheat, rye, barley, etc., are completely destroyed.

The inhabitants of the valley, having been deprived of their usual means of subsistence, are plunged into the most dire distress. There is great suffering, more especially among the lower classes, and it is evident that unless something is done to relieve them there will be numerous deaths from famine and exposure. The health officers are taking measures to prevent an epidemic of fever, as it is feared that the sediment deposited upon the land by the receding waters will prove a fruitful source for the breeding of typhoid and malarial fevers.

To add to the distress many of the residents of the valley have not lost their crops, but their dwellings have been completely destroyed, or else damaged to such an extent that they are unfit for use. The damage arising from this cause is immense.

TRADE WITH FOREIGN LANDS

Sir Nevill Lubbock on An Interesting Mission.

A New Phase of the Reciprocity Clause With Which the Government Will Have to Deal.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The list of reciprocity agreements which began with Brazil several months ago and which includes Spain, San Domingo, Costa Rica and other countries, may possibly be extended to the British West Indies, although the negotiations which are about to be commenced with the latter country present a new and interesting phase.

Sir Nevill Lubbock, who will represent in the negotiations British Guiana and all the islands in the British West Indies, except Barbadoes and Jamaica, has already arrived in Washington.

Within a week or two, commissioners will reach here from the islands named and then the trio of representatives will hold formal conferences with the state department, although in the meantime the preliminaries will be arranged.

"The reciprocity section of the McKinley bill," said Sir Nevill to a reporter, "gives the president power to reimpose the duties on sugar, coffee, hides, etc., when imported from any country which exacts from the United States upon imports of agricultural or other products, duties that he may deem to be reciprocally unequal and unreasonable.

"My mission in Washington is to endeavor to show the president and the secretary of state that the British West Indies do not impose upon imports from the United States duties that are unequal or unreasonable, when compared with the tariff imposed upon imports from other countries.

"In other words, we will give to articles imported by us from the United States the same privileges and advantages that we afford to goods even imported from Great Britain."

"What will happen if no agreement is reached and the duties here are reimposed?"

"We will send all our sugar to the United Kingdom, where we will find a market for it. At present we send all of it to the United States except the Demara sugar, which is a fancy grade and which goes to England. I have no hesitation in saying that we would like to continue our trade with this country."

John Nadolsky asks the Bee to correct a misstatement which he claims was made against him in the local Polish paper yesterday. The assertion that he was drunk in police court yesterday he says is untrue. He was in court simply in the interest of a neighbor.

HAHN SHOWS HIS HAND.

He Comes Out Strongly for Sherman.

Foraker No Match for Him As a Senator.

Ohio Would Be Everlastingly Disgraced Should She Send the Wind-Jammer From Cincinnati to the Senate.

Columbus, O., Nov. 12.—During the campaign Chairman Hahn, of the republican executive committee, refused to commit himself as to the United States senatorship. But this evening he said:

"So far as the senatorial question was concerned the canvass was conducted without reference to it. But now that election is over I take it that every republican has a perfect right to express his views. There is no better republican in Ohio than J. B. Foraker.

"Upon the other hand there is no better one than Mr. Sherman, and both are entitled to the thanks of the republicans of the state for their work during the campaign just closed.

"Men always hate to choose between two good friends but it cannot be denied that Mr. Sherman is recognized as the ablest statesman and financier in the United States senate and the claim that some parties make to the effect that he is too old for actual service is not well founded. At the age of 68 there is no better preserved man in Ohio than the senator, and he made as many speeches in the last campaign as did Gov. Foraker.

"One of the reasons that there should be no question about him being returned to the senate is that such men as Jerry Simpson and fanatics of that class told us during the campaign their sole purwas to retire John Sherman from the United States senate. Will the republicans of Ohio listen to demagogues of this character? A great many wild claims are made about this senator and that representative's vote. I desire to say they are all men of honor and in my opinion have made up their minds just whom they will support.

"There can be no question whatever but that Mr. Sherman will be elected to succeed himself. Every man of courage has a right to his own opinion in this friendly contest and this is what it will be. And no disgrace will attach to the choice of United States senator by the republican general assembly."

SOME SPICY CURRENT TOPICS

Of Local and Neighborhood Interest.

Notes and Comments on Incidents Occurring Daily—Prepared for Readers Who are Hustled for Time.

A BIG VERDICT.

The jury in the case of August W. Eschedor, administrator, against the Lake Shore, returned a verdict for the plaintiff, fixing the damages at $2,000. It was an action to recover $10,000 damages for loss of life.

SWARTWOOD WITH PITTSBURG.

Toledo people will be pleased to learn that Ed. Swartwood has signed to play with Pittsburg next year. "Swarty" was a prime favorite in this city and his work here and in Sioux City this season has attracted such attention that he is now in the National league.

BOTH BOUND OVER.

J. H. Andrews and J. P. Hofer, saloonkeepers of Continental, Ohio, had hearings before U. S. Commissioner Beckham yesterday afternoon on charges of slight violations of the internal revenue laws. Both waived examination and were bound over in the sum of $200 each to the next term of U. S. district court.

OFF FOR WHITEHOUSE.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock about 50 members of Custar division and the lodges went to Whitehouse to participate in the dodication exercises of the new hall just completed by the brethren at that thriving village. The program includes a parade this afternoon, followed by a banquet at the hall to-night. The party returns by a special train over the Wabash at the close of the amusement.

THE CYCLORAMA.

The battle of Gettysburg, now on exhibition at the cyclorama building on Jefferson street, has been visited by many Toledoans and people from out of the city, but a more liberal patronage ought to be bestowed. As a work of art it is among the best; as an element for education and the gaining of knowledge its value cannot be overestimated, and it is a means of illustrating one of the most important battles of the late war. An evening or afternoon spent at the cyclorama will prove profitable in every sense.

A BAD, BAD MAN.

A man named Eli McCloy, while drunk last night, made a desperate attempt to clean out Sweeney's saloon, on the corner of Perry and St. Clair street. He managed to break the glass in a door with a hatchet, when Officers Heinig and Wegner stopped him. Even then he gave the officers a lively tussle, and in the turnkey's room at the station fought like a tiger, until locked up. In police court this morning he was fined the costs for being drunk, $5 and costs for resisting an officer, and $5 and costs for malicious destruction of property.

THE ADJUTANT-GENERALSHIP.

Col. James C. Howe, of Kenton, who is colonel of the Second regiment, Ohio National guard, is in the city to-day calling on his numerous friends with a view to securing indorsements in his candidacy for the adjutant-generalship of Ohio. The colonel has been an active member of the national guard for years, and was only a few months since re-elected as the head of the Second regiment. His regiment encamped at Presque Isle last year, and received many compliments for their fine appearance and general good discipline. His appointment would undoubtedly give satisfaction to Toledo militiamen.

ECONOMIC INQUIRY.

The regular meeting of the Toledo Society of Economic Inquiry was held last evening at Steadman's Business college. The meeting was particularly interesting on account of the presence of a number of visiting Knights of Labor, among whom were Messrs. Richard Trevellick, Detroit, Mich.; T. W. Gilruth, Missouri; J. E. Hockaday, Nebraska; Robt. Schilling, Wisconsin, and Hon. J. R. Sovereign, Iowa. Mrs. Rosa Segur read the paper, subject, "Taxation, Its Wrongs and Remedies." A discussion then followed, led by Rev. Geo. Candee, and participated in by Richard Trevellick and T. W. Gilruth, both giving sound arguments regarding taxation, Rev. H. M. Bacon, Rev. Chas. Cravens, Rev. Hopkins and others. The meeting adjourned until the third Wednesday in December.

AN OLD TOLEDOAN BURNED OUT.

The many friends in Toledo of Mr. and Mrs. A. Stuart, of Cincinnati, Ohio, will be pained to learn that their residence at Wyoming, Ohio, was completely destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning, with all of its contents. It was an exceedingly close call for the people themselves, as five little children had to be gotten out quickly, and the youngest one, Francis, only six months old came near being left. The father and mother each thinking the other had the baby, who had behaved himself so nicely, as to need no special attention.

The loss of the complete home at this time and season of the year is indeed a great affliction. The Cincinnati Post says the fire was incendiary in orgin and that other efforts in this same suberb have been made before to burn homes. Mr. Stuart's loss is $13,000, on which there is an insurance of $5,500.

THE BROKEN BERLIN BANKS

Chief Clerks Placed Behind the Bars.

Friedlaender & Somerfeld's Concern Declared Bankrupt—Evidence of Great Agitation.

Berlin, Nov. 12.—The banking house of Friedlaender & Sommerfeld, which suspended payment on November 7, owing to the sensational collapse of the firm of Hirschfeld & Wolff, was to-day officially declared bankrupt.

This step was taken at the request of the Batin & Gubenhat company, of this city, the chief creditor of Friedlaender & Sommerfeld.

The Sommerfelds, father and son, it will be recalled, attempted suicide on Saturday last, and eventually died from their self-inflicted wounds.

The chief clerks of both the collapsed firms (Friedlaender & Sommerfeld and Hirschfeld & Wolff) have been arrested.

Some idea of the financial agitation on Monday last, in consequence of the recent failures, may be judged from the fact that Reichs bank alone discounted bills to the amount of 6,000,000 marks.

Finally the crowd of persons who were desirous of depositing money and valuables, was so great that the bank was obliged to set apart separate rooms for their accommodation.

THEY SETTLED.

The Robisons Pay $1,137.50 for Killing a Child.

The case of Nathanial Ruben, administrator, against the Toledo Electric Railway company, which has been on hearing in Judge Lemmon's court for several days, has been settled. There were two cases pending to recover $10,000 each. The company stipulated to pay $568.75 in each case.

FAILED IN THEIR ATTEMPT.

A Bold Plan to Rob a Southern Train.

Fifteen White Men Thwarted in a Plan to Hold Up the Queen & Crescent This Morning.

Birmingham, Nov. 12.—At Collinsville, Ala., at 1 o'clock this morning a gang of 15 white men well dressed, captured the railroad station and lay in wait for passenger train No. 1 of the Queen & Crescent line from Cincinnati, for the purpose of robbery.

Officers appeared and drove the gang away. As the train pulled in, four of the robbers returned and attempted to board it. The citizens and the railroad men fired on the gang, who fled to the woods.

One who was slightly wounded was captured. Officers are now scouring the country for the remainder. The prisoner is unknown.

A NOLLE ENTERED

Frank Daniels Makes a Hit in Little Fuck.

Evans and Hoey in "A Parlor Match" To-Night—Other Attractions for the Week.

Frank Daniels and his great company of funny people were greeted with a big house at Wheeler's last evening, and if one can judge by the enthusiastic applause and smiles of the audience the production scored a big hit. Little Puck is a light farce comedy, but has many merits of its own. The success of the piece, however, is dependent upon the people, and recognizing this fact, Daniels' company is composed of actosr who partake the spirit of their art and are among the leaders of laughter-producers. The specialties were good, the girls pretty and clever, and the songs were new and catchy. Daniels is an orginal comedian, and he is well seconded by Bert Coote. The latter made a great hit with a topical song in which he treated the local senatorial muddle as follows:

A reporter for the daily press
Once interviewed a man.
His name was Charley Griffin,
And with Flickinger he ran.
"Oh, Flick," he said, "you've lied to me,
And you ought to be a clam.
You said you'd vote as I did,
But your word aint worth a—picayune,
For thee, my love; for thee, my love, for thee.

The audience caught this up with a roar, and encored the singer a number of times.

Evans and Hoey.

Assisted in their efforts by that clever little soubrette, Minnie French, who appears as Innocent Kidd, and those famous and much talked of and written about Levey sisters, Evans and Hoey return to this city this evening at Wheeler's, and present their perennial success, A Parlor Match. Since last seen in this city the piece has been re-written, and much has been added that is new and entertaining. New music and dances have supplied the places of the old successes, and everything possible has been done to make this play one of the best farce comedies on the road.

Old Hoss Hoey, who appears as Old Hoss, a collector for an auction room, is one of the greatest characters now before the public. He is droll, quaint and somber in everything he does, and his portraiture of the American tramp stamps him one of the best comedians on the stage. His partner and McCorker Evans is also very funny, and as the irrepressible book agent he presents a very comical picture of that much talked of and much abused person.

There will be but one performance given in this city.

Master and Man.

The great melodramatic success, Master and Man, will be the attraction at the People's theater next week, commencing Monday evening.

The play abounds with a beautiful story, told by a first-class, capable company. The situations are strong and the climaxes very powerful. The great scene of the play is the iron works in full blast. This scene is a genuine novelty to the American stage, and the large iron furnace, anvils, tower, etc., are carried by the company; in fact, all the scenery used in Master and Man is carried by the company. The cast is a very strong one, headed by the popular young actor, Walter Edwards, and the favorite character artist, Dominick Murray. During the play a number of specialties are introduced by the Workingmen's quartet and the Twin City trio.

Emerson's Ministrels.

The famous Emerson's Minstrels will be at Wheeler's to-morrow evening and there will be great sport on the boards. The Chicago Times speaks of them as follows:

"Emerson's Minstrels, in the snap, and go, and color of the performances whereof the guiding hand of the veteran manager, J. H. Haverly, is plainly visible, opened the week at the Grand Sunday evening to a great audience for both numbers and demonstration, and continued the record again last evening. It is largely a return to somewhat old-time minstrel methods, with but little dependenec on variety business of later minstrel practice, though the little given in that way, including Harry Kennedy, the ventlioquist, is good in its way. There are plenty of "end men" and glowing costuming and plantation songs, and Emerson himself is as gay and entertaining as ever. It is an excellent all-around show of the real minstrel flavor, every feature of which immensely pleases the large audiences present at every performance."

Jefferson and Florence.

The Jefferson-Florence Comedy company will appear at the Wheeler opera house next Wednesday evening in "The Rivals." This is the last opportunity Toledo people will have of seeing these two great actors together, for their contract expires with this season. The company includes: Joseph Jefferson, W. J. Florence, Mrs. John Drew, Viola Allen, J. H. Barnes, Fanny Denham Rouse, W. F. Owen, Carrie Jackson, George W. Denham, Fitzhugh Owsley, Joseph Warren, H. W. Odlin and Joseph Logan.

THE SAYWARD CASE.

London, Nov. 12.—The Times to-day, commenting upon the Sayward case, says it is not apparent why the owners of the Sayward should be deprived of the remedy they claim because the United States has agreed to arbitration.

The Times adds that when the controversy comes before the arbitrators it is clear that Mr. Blaine will have a case which it will not be an easy matter for him to establish.

THEY PLEAD NOT GUILTY.

Gas Trustees Not Driving the Bolt and Nut Works From Toledo.

The statement is made by an evening paper that owing to the failure of the gas trustees to give the Toledo Bolt and Nut works a supply of gas, that institution was about to move from Toledo.

The report is unfounded for the reason that the works never had Toledo gas, never applied for it, and refused to take it when asked by a solicitor.

Mr. F. B. Dodge, treasurer of the company, said to-day the works were not going to be removed, at least not this year.

The trustees have enough burdens to bear without piling imaginary evils to their credit.

"Now, my dear," said the fond mother, as she put her little son to bed on the night of the party, "be a good boy while mother goes down-stairs to see the company. God and the angels will be with you."

During the evening a call was heard from the upper room. The mother hastened to her child.

"What is it, dear?" she anxiously exclaimed.

"Mamma, don't you want to stay up here with God and the angels and let me go down-stairs just a little while.—Somerville Journal.
